"MUST POSTPONE WORLD'S FAIR"

—ADOLPHUS BUSCH.

St. Louisan's Conviction Based on What He Learned in Europe.

ADDITIONAL YEAR NEEDED

FULL CO-OPERATION OF FOREIGN NATIONS IMPOSSIBLE BY 1903.

Mr. Busch, as Chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, Will Advise the Fair Directors to Put Off the Opening One Year to Insure Success.

FRANCIS SAYS NO POSTPONEMENT.

President D. R. Francis, when informed of Mr. Busch's statement, said:

"The Fair cannot and will not be postponed. I have said this before, and I repeat it now, whatever anyone else may have said.

"Mr. Busch is not advised of the progress which we are making, or he would not have made such a statement.

"President McKinley's invitation to the world to attend the Fair in 1903 has gone out, and it would be impossible to change the time now."

Mr. Francis said: "While Mr. Busch has helped the World's Fair long, he has been absent from St. Louis for six months, and because of that fact he was not aware of the progress the Exposition had made."

Gov. Francis' attention was drawn to Mr. Busch's statement that he (Mr. Busch) spoke from what he had learned abroad and that his information was secured from the commercial and official representatives of foreign nations.

"As to the foreign nations," said the governor, "we will have them ready to exhibit here in 1903. It is true, our representatives have not yet visited Germany or Austria and our communication with them has not been extended. Mr. de Olivares has just departed for Spain and Portugal and will also visit South America. The most flattering reports of England's good will and assistance come from London.

"In the case of the Chicago Exposition, which was postponed one year, Congress had authorized the postponement before the invitations were issued."

◆ ◆ ◆

Adolphus Busch, the millionaire brewer and one of the foremost leaders of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Company, in which he holds the position of chairman of the foreign relations committee, whose keen interest in and unvarying loyalty toward the World's Fair have always been recognized, declared to the Post-Dispatch Tuesday morning that "it would be impossible to hold a great world's fair in St. Louis in 1903," and that, further, "if the exposition is to be on a scale of international greatness the time for preparation should be postponed at least one year."

"I am firmly convinced," added Mr. Busch, "of the correctness of my judgment.

"At the first opportunity I shall make this statement to the directors of the Exposition."

Mr. Busch returned Monday night from a long stay abroad. He passed most of his time in Austria and Germany.

His observations and conclusions regarding the World's Fair, he says, are based on actual conditions.

"They are facts," he said, "that we have got to face, and the sooner we realize that a big World's Fair means to have the active co-operation and hearty support of all the nations of the world, the better it will be for us.

What He Found in Two Countries.

"If we are to eclipse the Paris and Chicago expositions (and certainly we should be content with nothing less) we must start right. Some of the press accounts of the World's Fair outside of St. Louis convey to foreign nations the idea that we are simply going to hold an exposition commensurate with the Pan-American, Omaha or California fairs.

"We know very well that if such an impression prevails we cannot enlist great aid from foreign nations.

"Here is what I found in Germany and Austria:

"The great merchants and manufacturers there, while having heard of the World's Fair, did not show the interest in speaking of it that they did of the Paris Exposition.

"Why? Because our Fair has not been advertised enough. We must put activity into the movement; must wake up to the importance of the event from an international standpoint and be ready to show when the times comes that our Fair is the grandest of all.

"I am sure that we can arouse the interest of our neighbors across the water if we but try. And when we have done that we must give them some time at least to make their show.

"Now, we couldn't get a great art display from Germany by 1903, because painters with whom I talked said it would take them a year to paint a picture.

"Then the commercial world has got to be allowed some time.

"In the building of the Fair we have an immense contract on our hands, but every one will recognize that in the exhibits we have a still greater one.

"I am, as I have said, for postponing the Fair a year, and in so advocating I think I am working for the best interests of St. Louis, the Louisiana Purchase states and the Fair itself."

Sees Improvement in St. Louis

Mr. Busch said that although he had been absent from the city only six months, the improvements for a New St. Louis are already apparent.

"I think we will be able to show a great city as well as a great exposition," he said.

"One of the first things to be done is to abate the smoke. Berlin has solved the problem thoroughly. There the municipal authorities use what is known as a smoke preventer.

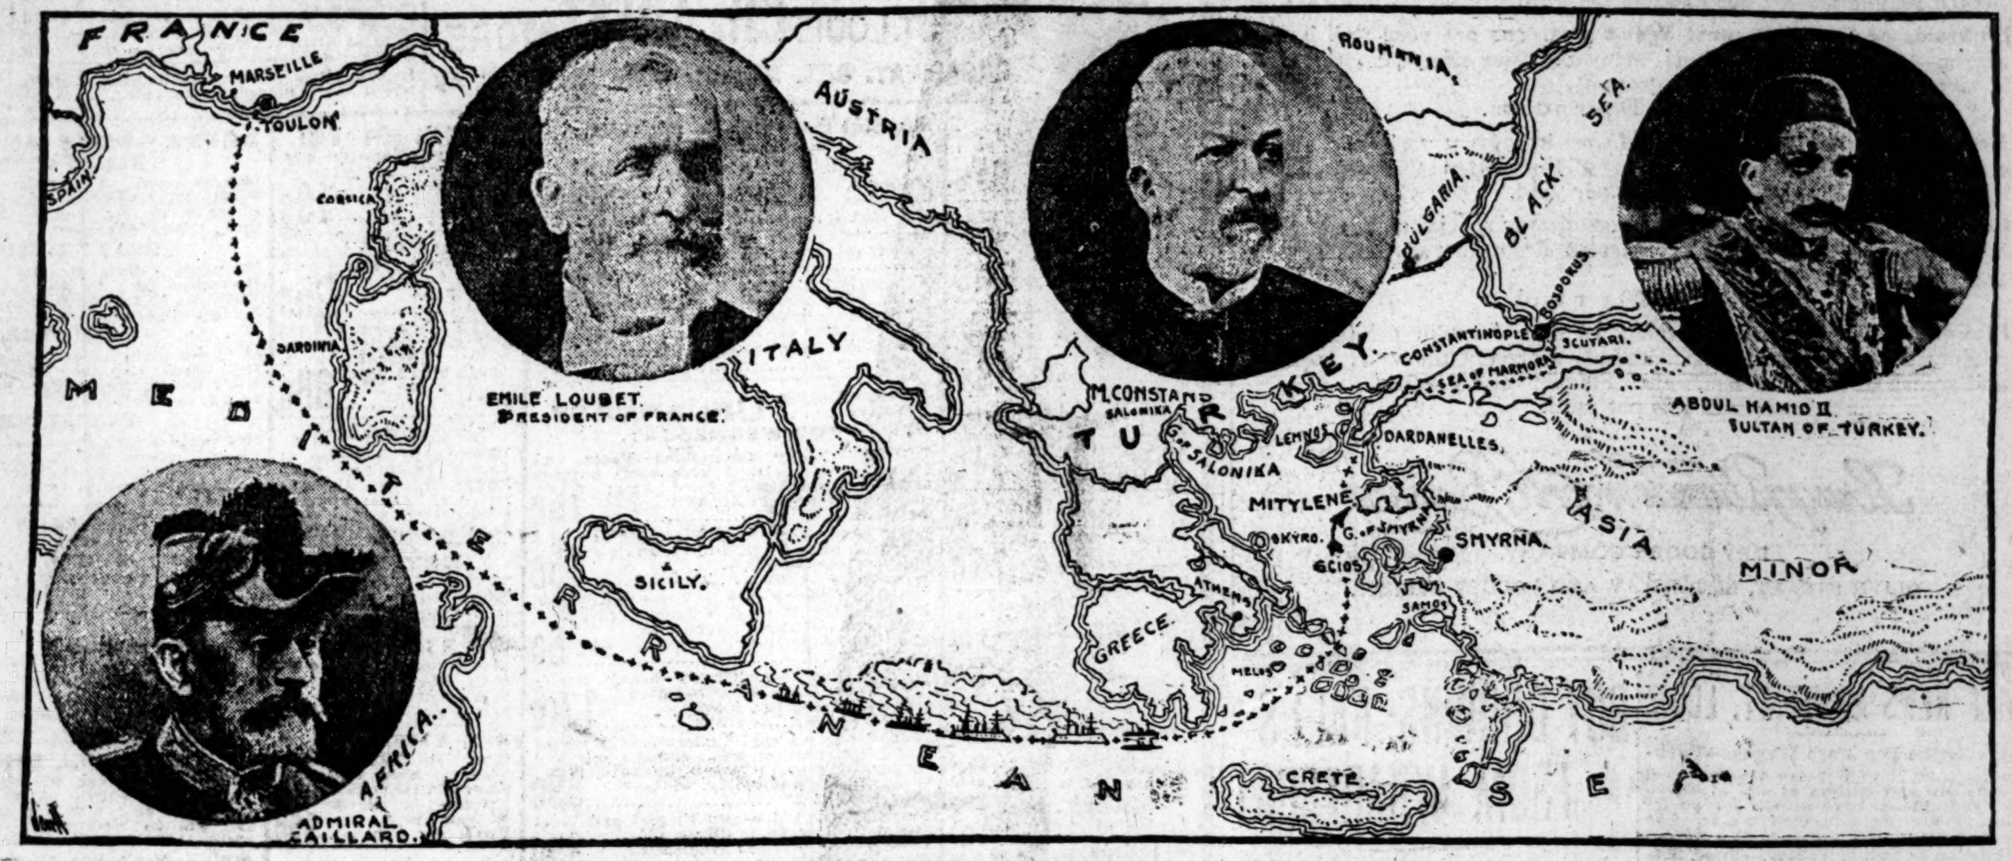
"It saves fuel and readily abates the dense, black smoke.

"It is not an expensive device. I have sent for a pattern and will introduce it in my plant here in St. Louis.

"This smoke device is used, in fact, in all of the large German cities, and I have heard no complaint of it being ineffective anywhere.

"The German municipalities, as we know, are noted for their fine streets and boulevards. In this respect there is plenty of room for St. Louis to improve and forge ahead of her sister American cities.

FRENCH WAR FLEET TAKES POSSESSION OF TURKISH PORTS ON MYTILENE ISLAND.



THE ISLAND OF MYTILENE, WHOSE PORTS HAVE BEEN SEIZED BY FRANCE

Mytilene, known to the Greeks as Lestos, is within 25 miles of the Dardanelles and has an area or 276 square miles, and a population of 40,000. It has good harbors and a fertile soil. The principal towns are Castro (or Mitylene) and Molivo.

The French fleet, which has seized the ports, consists of nine or ten first-class modern fighting ships, and between 4000 and 5000 men. The admiral started with seven and picked up two, perhaps three, on the way.

The vessels at his disposal consist of the huge battleships Charlemagne and Gaulois of 11,260 tons apiece, and each carrying four 12-inch barbette guns, ten 5½-inch quick-firing, eight 3¾-inch quick-firers and heavy secondary batteries; the armored cruisers Admiral Pothuau, Chanzy and Admiral Charner of about 5000 tons each and heavily armed; the cruisers Galilie, two torpedo-boat destroyers of the Hallebarde type (27-knot speed); the torpedo cruisers Condor and Vautour, the last-named having been stationed of late at Constantinople as a dispatch boat.

FRANCE SEIZES ON MYTILENE ISLE TURKISH PORTS

A Step That Means War Should the Porte Resist.

SULTAN MUST PAY OR FIGHT

FRENCH ADMIRAL WILL PROCEED TO COLLECT CUSTOMS.

If Seized Ports Do Not Yield Sufficient Revenue Smyrna's Full Coffers Will Be Tapped by the War Fleet.

PARIS, Nov. 5.—An official dispatch announces the arrival of Admiral Caillard's squadron this morning at the island of Mitylene.

It is also announced that the French admiral has seized three ports on the island and will proceed to collect the customs in satisfaction of the claims of French subjects against the Turkish government.

Admiral Caillard's squadron arrived off the island of Syra (Grecian archipelago) yesterday and detached a dispatch boat, which entered the port of Syra and received from the telegraph station a batch of dispatches containing definite instructions from the French government regarding carrying out the sealed orders which were handed to the admiral previous to his leaving Toulon. These dispatches directed Admiral Caillard to proceed to the island of Mitylene, where he will seize the customs at Midilli, and at another port.

The foreign office here has not yet received the Sultan's reply to the note presented by M. Bapst, counselor of the French legation at Constantinople, following out the instructions of M. Delcasse, the foreign minister, under date of Nov. 3.

Program of the Invasion.

The correspondent here of the Associated Press is enabled to make the following statement: "When the French government decided to send a French squadron to Turkey, it debated whether to seize the customs at Salonica, Beirut or Smyrna, as it was realized that the receipts of one of these three big ports would be required to produce a sufficient to pay off the French claims without a long occupation, which was considered inadvisable.

The occupation of Salonica was at once dismissed, because it might create the false impression that France was aiming to reopen the Macedonian question. The occupation of Beirut was also set aside, owing to the French position and interests in Syria, where the population looks upon France as its protector.

The occupation of Beirut, therefore, was certain to create effervescence and perhaps even rebellion. The choice of M. Delcasse, consequently, fell on Smyrna, which offers equal advantage to the other ports without having their political drawbacks.

Saturday, however, came the dispatch from M. Bapst announcing the issuing of the Sultan's irade accepting the Lorando claim in its entirety, as France demanded. This dispatch slightly modified the aspect of the situation, inasmuch as M. Delcasse came to the conclusion that the Sultan would now settle the money claims, and would, within a few days, produce the guarantees which France demanded for their payment.

The necessity for seizing big customs therefore became less pressing, although the necessity for occupying Turkish territory, in order to exercise pressure and compel the Sultan to concede the demands respecting Turkey's disregard of French treaty rights still remained urgent. The government, therefore, decided that Admiral Caillard should occupy a couple of ports on the island of Mitylene, which is conveniently close to Smyrna.

So, should the government's impression that the Sultan will satisfactorily settle

M. DUMONT WILL PIERCE CLOUDS

Proposed Flight From Riviera to Corsica.

IN A RACING BALLOON

AIRSHIP SPECIALLY CONSTRUCTED FOR NEW EXPERIMENT.

Yachts to Follow Trips—Will Make Trips Daily for Three Months and Then Undertake His Great Voyage.

PARIS, Nov. 5.—M. Santos-Dumont having been finally awarded the Deutsch prize of 100,000 francs for sailing from St. Cloud to and around the Eiffel tower and back to St. Cloud in 30 minutes, will soon undertake more daring feats. Henri Rochefort said the other day, nothing that he announces now seems impossible.

He had hardly spoken of transferring his experiments to the Mediterranean than he received on every side proposals of a most magnificent kind.

His daring project, which he began to study barely a fortnight ago, is already on the point of being executed. A vast piece of ground near the sea has been offered to him on the Riviera. On this ground a balloon house, 50 meters long and 15 high, and a hydrogen factory are being constructed. A princely yacht has offered to follow him throughout his experiments, and will be kept under steam throughout the trials.

One of the most intimate friends of the Duc de Dino has offered him hospitality at the Villa de Roquebrune. A number of American "milliardaire" owners of yachts have announced that they will follow him to the Riviera.

As far as the weather permits, experiments will be made daily during three months in the day time. The "clou" of the Monaco season will be an aerial voyage from France to Corsica. The aeronaut proposes to go to Calvi in half the time taken by the mail steamers. This sensational voyage will take place toward the end of February.

M. Santos-Dumont will transport to the Riviera, not one, but two steerable balloons, the Santos-Dumont VI, which won the Deutsch prize, and the Santos-Dumont VII, which, without anything having been said about it, is already under construction.

The new balloon marks an enormous advance on the preceding one. It is, so to speak, a veritable racing balloon. It is very long, measuring no less than 40 metres by 6 metres at the widest point. It is 10 metres longer than No. 6. Its volume will be 830 cubic metres, or 200 cubic metres more than the preceding one.

It will be noticed that M. Santos-Dumont proceeds in his successive construction with wise circumspection and goes gradually in the direction of heavy tonnage, basing each new balloon on the results obtained by the preceding ones. The first steerable balloon, constructed in 1898, had a capacity of 180 cubic metres. Today he has reached 830 cubic metres, after having constructed five others of intermediate capacity.

The framework of No. 7 will be 28 metres long, 10 metres more than No. 6. It weighs 62 kilos. The new balloon has one peculiarity, that of having two screws, each 5 metres in diameter, one at the bow and the other at the stern. Each screw is worked by a motor of 45 horse power.

We may look forward to fine speed from this long shaped balloon, driven by the enormous force of 90 horse power.

In place of sand ballast the aeronaut will only carry with him a load of petroleum. With this liquid ballast, which will be consumed by the motors and not thrown overboard, traversing long distances becomes at once possible.

The interior pressure of the hydrogen will be carried to a point much higher than formerly obtained so as to maintain the form of the balloon when going at the very highest speed.

The basket work car will be fixed in the middle of the framework, of which the motors will occupy the extremities. The aeronaut thus obtains an excellent balance weight, so as to cause an equal strain on the wires by which the framework is suspended to the balloon, without any danger of tearing the silk at the points where the wires are attached.

It will be remembered that during the experiments above Longchamp racecourse, at an average height of 60 meters, M. Santos-Dumont allowed the end of his guide rope to trail along the ground. In the bay of Monaco he will find the establishing of equilibrium still easier by allowing a specially made rope to float on the surface. This will not diminish to any great degree the speed of the balloon. It will allow him to continue his experiments without danger and will be of service to him when, after his preliminary experiments, he starts out to cross the Mediterranean.

CITY ANTITOXIN CAUSING TETANUS KILLS TWO MORE

Mamie Keenan, the Third in Her Family, and Mary Ernst Latest Victims.

THREE MORE DEATHS FEARED

TWELVE CHILDREN HAVE SUCCUMBED WITHIN TEN DAYS.

Health Commissioner Starkloff Says He Believes That No More Cases of Tetanus Will Develop After Thursday.

Twelve children have died in ten days in St. Louis of tetanus caused by inoculation with infected diphtheria antitoxin supplied by the city.

Two names have been added to the death roll within 24 hours.

The latest vctim was Mamie Keenan, 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Keenan of 3849 Cozens avenue, who died Tuesday morning.

Emma Mary Ernst, aged 4 years, daughter of Jacob C. Ernst of 809 North Jefferson avenue, succumbed to tetanus Monday afternoon.

Chester, aged 11 years, the only survivor of the four children of Mr. and Mrs. Keenan, is yielding gradually to the malady, and his physicians say that his death will occur soon.

Veronica Keenan, who died at the City Hospital Oct. 26, was the first victim of the infected serum. She was 5 years old. Agnes Adele Keenan, aged 7 years, died Friday morning.

The physician attending Blima Goldstein of 1230 North Seventh street expects her death soon. Her two sisters, who also were treated with city antitoxin, are improving and probably will recover.

Mary Kammerer of 1113 North Eighth street is sinking rapidly and, according to her physician, cannot survive.

Expects no Cases After Thursday

Dr. Max C. Starkloff, health commissioner, says he believes that no more cases will develop after Thursday.

The last of the serum supply of Aug. 24, which is considered to be that which was infected, was issued Oct. 23, he says, and he thinks none of this has been used since Oct. 30. Tetanus germs should develop within a week or not at all, according to his statement.

The report of the expert bacteriologists, employed by the city to examine the serum and ascertain the nature of its infection, is being delayed because of the scarcity of guinea pigs with which to conduct the necessary experiments.

The little animals have been ordered from a Philadelphia breeder. One shipment arrived Monday night and another is expected by late express Tuesday night. There will be enough when the last consignment arrives to enable the bacteriologists to continue their experiments.

Each of the experts is making his investigations independently of the others, and, when their tasks shall have been concluded, they will combine their observations in a report to the coroner, who will return a verdict in the inquest immediately.

VACCINE POINTS NOT FREE

City No Longer Will Distribute Them Among Physicians, Thus Incurring Responsibility for Them.

By an order issued Tuesday by Dr. G. A. Jordan, chief dispensary physician, the issuance of vaccine points to physicians by the city has been discontinued.

The new rule is designed to save money to the city and to avoid any possible responsibility for vaccinations performed by private practitioners.

"All persons who wish to be vaccinated and not able to pay a physician will be vaccinated, as heretofore, at any of the three branches of the dispensary," said Dr. Jordan.

FIRST SNOW OF THE SEASON HERE

DR. HYATT AND OTHER ST. LOUISANS SAW FLAKES.

WERE WEST OF GRAND AVENUE

Roofs of Incoming Trains White With "The Beautiful" as in Dead of Winter.

"Snow or rain or both."

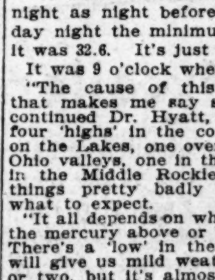
This is Dr. Hyatt's prediction for Tuesday and Wednesday, and to back it up he says:

"It has already snowed."

His weather map shows that it snowed in Keokuk Tuesday morning, and the doctor for himself saw snow west of Grand avenues when he came down down in the morning.

"I think there were flurries of snow all over the northern part of the state. We caught a little of it in the West End," said the doctor.

Incoming trains from the north Tuesday morning bore out Dr. Hyatt's statement:



I WISH I COULD FLY SOUTH

The roofs of the coaches were white with snow and the engines were as frosty as in the dead of winter. Burlington trainmen reported at Union Station that it was snowing early in the morning sixty miles north of St. Louis. At no place, however, did the fall reach half an inch in depth.

"Frost," said Dr. Hyatt. "Well, that was everywhere except down in the Florida peninsula. Mobile, way down on the Gulf, reports heavy frost and the thermometer at 38 degrees. Texas, as far south as Fort Worth, was not overlooked.

"It wasn't as cold here in St. Louis last night as night before by 3 degrees. Sunday night the minimum was 28; last night it was 32.6. It's just 32 now."

It was 9 o'clock when the Doctor spoke.

"The cause of this unsettled condition that makes me say snow, rain or both," continued Dr. Hyatt, "is the presence of four 'highs' in the country. There is one on the Lakes, one over the Mississippi and Ohio valleys, one in the southwest and one in the Middle Rockies. They're twisting things pretty badly and you can't tell what to expect.

"It all depends on whether the winds send the mercury above or below freezing point. There's a 'low' in the far Northwest that will give us mild weather maybe in a day or two, but it's almost too far off to talk about. There's another on the South Atlantic coast, too, but that won't do us any good.

"It'll just be cold and cloudy for a day or two with flurries of snow or showers."

THE WEATHER INDICATIONS.

SHOWERS OR SNOW.

For St. Louis and vicinity—Unsettled with showers or snow flurries Tuesday night or Wednesday.

Missouri—Threatening, with probably showers Tuesday night and Wednesday; slowly rising temperature; southeasterly winds.

Illinois—Cloudy, with probably rain Tuesday night and Wednesday; rising temperature; southeast winds.

Indiana—Increasing cloudiness and warmer Tuesday night; Wednesday, probably showers and slightly warmer; variable winds becoming southeasterly.

Iowa—Cloudy and threatening, with probably light rain; warmer Tuesday night and Wednesday; east to south winds.

South Dakota—Cloudy and threatening, with probably light rain Tuesday night and Wednesday; warmer in east portion Tuesday night; southerly winds.

Nebraska—Generally cloudy Tuesday night and Wednesday, with probably showers; warmer Tuesday night in east portion Wednesday; southerly winds.

Kansas—Increasing cloudiness Tuesday night, with possibly showers in east portion; Wednesday, cloudy, with probably rain; warmer Tuesday night; variable winds.

Arkansas—Tuesday night and Wednesday fair.

Oklahoma and Indian Territory—Tuesday night and Wednesday fair; warmer.

Texas—Tuesday night and Wednesday fair; warmer; light to fresh easterly winds on coast.

ELEVEN STATES AT THE POLLS

Forecast of the Elections Transpiring Today.

APATHY IN AN OFF YEAR

TAMMANY MAY BE OVERTHROWN IN NEW YORK CITY.

The Battle for Reform There Is the Most Interesting Event of the Various Contests to be Decided.

◆ ◆ ◆

WHERE AND WHAT.

Iowa—State and Legislature.
Nebraska—Supreme Court Judge, University Regents.
Ohio—State and Legislature.
New York—Mayor of New York and Legislature.
Pennsylvania—Judge of Supreme Court, State Treasurer.
Maryland—Treasurer and Legislature.
Massachusetts—State and Legislature.
Rhode Island—State and Legislature.
Virginia—State and Legislature.
New Jersey—State and Legislature.
Mississippi—Secretary of State and Treasurer.

Eleven states hold elections; in ten of them state officers are to be elected and there are several important legislative contests.

Republican success in Iowa is assured, both as to the state and legislative tickets, the only question being the size of the vote. The legislature chosen will have the selection of two United States senators.

In Nebraska Mr. Bryan has made an active canvass to hold the fusion and Populist vote of past years together.

Ohio has a state ticket to elect in a campaign in which the Democrats have wholly shelved the money issue. Apathy has marked the campaign there.

The mayoralty contest in New York City, and the possibility that Tammany may be overthrown, has overshadowed the legislative election. This is the most interesting election to be decided today.

In Pennsylvania the Quay and anti-Quay forces have centered their fight on the election of the state treasurer.

Special and Associated Press telegrams to the Post-Dispatch state that throughout the Western states snow is falling, the day is raw and he vote will probably be lighter than usual.

THE ELECTION IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Election day broke cold and cheerless. A drizzling rain was falling and a chill wind swept the streets and the early vote was seriously affected.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Richard Croker was the first man to vote in the polling place near the Democratic Club. His sons, Richard and Frank, followed him in the order named. Mr. Croker reached the polling place at one minute before 6, and found a number of men waiting to vote. The first three men gave up their places in the line and Mr. Croker and his sons cast ballots Nos. 1, 2 and 3. Seth Low, the fusion candidate for mayor, voted at about 8 o'clock and as he did so a score of cameras were operated to make pictorial record of the act.

E. M. Shepard, candidate for mayor on the Democratic ticket, cast his ballot in the polling place near his home in Brooklyn about 11:25 o'clock today.

STRAW IN MASSACHUSETTS.

BOSTON, Nov. 5.—The first town in Massachusetts to report the total vote for governor was Holbrook, which forwarded the following figures: Crane (Rep.), 184; Quincy (Dem.), 68. The vote last year stood: Crane, 245; Paine, 82.

Cleveland Casts His Vote.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 5.—Former President Grover Cleveland cast his ballot at the Chamber street polling station at 10:45 o'clock today.

GREATEST FOG IN MANY YEARS COVERS LONDON

Traffic Stopped and Human Life Endangered.

DARKNESS IS IMPENETRABLE

MEN ARE LOST, HORSES STAMPEDED, ROBBERS SUPREME.

Even Experienced Londoners Fear for the Public Safety if the Fog Continues, and Other Cities are Suffering.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—London is buried in fog—such a fog as Great Britain has not witnessed for years.

Not only is the capital covered, but half of the United Kingdom is enveloped in the pall.

Business in London, Birmingham, Liverpool and other great centers is paralyzed.

Shipping, railway trains, tram cars, cabs, automobiles and every kind of vehicle used by man is stopped.

Human life everywhere is endangered.

It is as though the end of the world had come. Deep fear oppresses all. Every heart is apprehensive, every brain appalled.

The fog made its appearance between 4 and 5 o'clock Sunday afternoon. It descended with remarkable rapidity, and inside of an hour the streets were deluged with a clammy vapor, which rolled and churned between the great buildings like the steam in a mammoth Turkish bath house.

In a short time London's 5,000,000 inhabitants were completely enveloped—just as completely enveloped as though the blackness of darkness had fallen upon it and wrapped it as tightly as a surgeon's bandage.

Not a Light Could Be Seen.

Not a single light was visible. The same condition obtains today. Look where you will in the mighty expanse of London, in its hundreds of square miles of shops and homes and government buildings, and not one glimmer will you see to relieve the blackness.

The city is as dark as Pompeii, buried these 1900 years under the ashes and lava of the first century of Christendom.

Standing upright, a man cannot see the pavement below. His hand in front of his eyes is invisible. Ghostly footsteps and ghostly voices he can hear at his side, but not a face can he see. They are the steps and the voices of men, like himself, lost in a wilderness of fog and smoke.

Traffic is dead. In front of the Houses of Parliament, with their magnificent stretch of 940 feet along the Thames, and in front of Trafalgar square remarkable scenes were witnessed last night and this morning.

Cabs, omnibuses, carts, wagons and tram cars formed a solid, impenetrable mass. Frightened horses and other animals attached to them filled the air with sounds of their startled neighing and cries of fear. Not a horse, not an owner dared to move an inch. To move meant collison, wild plunging, possibly death.

The only hope of safety was to stand still during the livelong night—tired, wet, hungry, fearful and dejected—waiting, waiting, hour after hour, cursing, blaspheming or eagerly praying that the fog might be lifted and traffic restored.

But these petitions, if they were offered, were not granted, for the fog hung on with unvarying pertinacity, and London still awaits the lifting of the barrier.

Many vehicles were wrecked in trying to escape when the fog appeared. Mounted policemen, in trying to preserve order and protect pedestrians and others, became lost themselves and wandered hopelessly in the black maze. Electricity was powerless to cope with the darkness. There was no light. The hand of man was stayed. Imperial London was as dreary, as lifeless, as desolate, as utterly barren as was the whole earth before the heavenly mandate went forth and the first light was created.

Highwaymen Are Absolute.

Thousands of Londoners rushed for the various depots to take suburban trains. Those who managed to find their way found the trains at a dead halt. Not a wheel moved. There was nothing for them to do but to remain in the streets all night. They were there this morning.

These men and hundreds of others were at the mercy of footpads. The highwayman reigned supreme and absolute. There was no chance of detection. Resistance was futile. There was nothing to do but to stand and deliver. London was a robbers' roost for the time being. The poor, the unfortunate, the hungry and the vicious—all seized this opportunity for a lifetime to enrich themselves at the expense of some more fortunate fellow being hopelessly lost in the fog.

What though the highwayman took chances? A misstep might have cost him his life, but there was booty in sight and joy ahead. He accepted the risk.

Lanterns could not be had. Even had they been available they would have amounted to nothing. No light could penetrate that awful mist.

Newsboys made torches and bonfires of their papers, and more than one man paid a handsome price for a single copy, in the vain hope of lighting himself to a place of safety.

Lives are always lost in a London fog. Men are slain for their possessions; they fall into sewers or cellars, are trampled to death by charging horses, caught under moving vehicles or inadvertently tumble into the Thames.

Fogs Caused By Gulf Stream.

The damp climate of England, fostered and augmented by that mighty wonder of nature, the warm gulf stream, which crosses the Atlantic ocean diagonally from the southern coast of Florida, is responsible for the great fogs with which the United Kingdom, and London in particular, is afflicted at uncertain intervals.

Anybody who has witnessed a London fog knows that it is impossible to exaggerate its thickness or its terrors.

A person who has never seen such a fog finds it almost impossible to realize its great weight, its impenetrability and the dangers by which it is attended.

Such a fog remains from 24 to 72 hours. Men caught in it a block from their homes wander by the entrance, unable to locate their own domiciles. All sense of direction and distance are lost. Man being a helpless atom, a homeless wanderer, pitifully weak, an absolute nonentity, as compared with the gigantic forces of nature which he is called upon to combat.

Today, while earth's greatest city is enwrapped in darkness, even men who are accustomed to the fogs of England pray for the speedy lifting of the present visitation. So depressing is its influence on the human mind, so nerve-wracking are its effects that scores of men and women commit suicide during the time it lasts. This condition of affairs was never known to fail. Man is weaker than nature. Man succumbs. Nature endures, and a London fog is one of nature's gloomiest and most forbidding manifestations of her power.

MAYOR'S SECRETARY OVERRULES JUDGE

HE COMMITS SHERMAN WYATT TO THE REFUGE.

JUDGE SIDENER HAD REFUSED

He Said He Couldn't Unless There Was Disturbance, but McConkey Didn't Think So.

Mayor Wells' secretary overrode a decision of Police Judge Sidener Tuesday morning.

Judge Sidener of the City Hall police court refused Tuesday to commit 10-year-old Sherman Wyatt to the House of Refuge on the recommendation of Probationery Officer F. C. Miller.

Officer Miller testified that the boy was incorrigible, and had repeatedly run away from home. Judge Sidener inquired whether he had been guilty of any breach of the peace.

"No, I don't know that he has created any disturbance," said Mr. Miller.

"Then I can't commit him to the Refuge," responded the court. "You must show that he has committed some offense before I can deal with him. Mere incorrigibility around his home is not a matter that I have a right to consider."

"But the mayor has directed that we must take such cases before the police judges," said Mr. Millar.

"I can't help that," said Judge Sidener. "I have to enforce the law as I find it, and I can find nothing authorizing me to commit a boy to a reformatory institution unless he has violated the law."

Young Wyatt has been an inmate of the Missouri Children's Home, and since leaving that institution, from which he ran away, has been frequently sought through the police by his mother, who lives at 2307 Market street.

Mr. Miller took the boy to the mayor's office to secure a ruling on the point at issue between himself and the court.

Secretary McConkey ordered that the boy be sent to the Refuge.

SAYS FATHER IS A KIDNAPER

Order for Arrest of J. W. Timmons in East St. Louis on Charge of Taking His Little Daughter.

The Belleville police have been asked to arrest J. W. Timmons on the charge of kidnaping his 10-year-old daughter, Ethel Krebs. The child is at the Metropolitan Hotel in that city. Timmons has disappeared.

He arrived in Belleville three months ago and registered at the Metropolitan Hotel, accompanied by the little girl. He told a touching story. He said his wife had died three months before in Kansas City and he had been going from place to place with the little girl trying to find steady employment.

The man kept close watch over the child and it was apparent that she feared him.

Timmons often left the hotel in the morning with the girl and was gone all day. On these occasions he said they had spent the day tramping through the surrounding country.

Timmons finally obtained work and the child was left in the care of the wife of the proprietor of the hotel. She lost her reserve then and said her mother was not dead, but was ill in Indianapolis. She said she had been living with an aunt at Pleasanton, Kansas, and that her father had coaxed her to accompany him to the house of a neighbor and had then put her on a train and taken her to Fort Smith, and they had gone from place to place after that.

An officer was detailed to watch Timmons. A few days ago he was followed to the postoffice. He received a letter which seemed to annoy him greatly. After reading it he tore it up and threw it away. The officer picked up the fragments and put them together. The name and address of the aunt of the child were obtained from it and she was communicated with. She wrote back that the father had kidnaped the child and asked that she be held and the father arrested.

Sunday afternoon Timmons left the hotel and has not returned.

LEPPELT SAYS HE'S DIVORCED.

He Files Reply to Mrs. Leppelt's Maintenance Suit.

Goddard Leppelt of Claremore, I. T., has filed a reply to Mrs. Louisa M. Lippelt's suit against him for maintenance, in which he contends he secured an absolute divorce from her in the federal courts of the Territory three weeks before she sued him.

He says his charge against her was desertion, declaring she had refused to go with him to Claremore when he moved there from St. Louis.

Mrs. Leppelt, in her suit for maintenance, charged Leppelt with desertion and nonsupport.

Leppelt says his business required his removal to Claremore, where he secured a divorce June 18 last. Mrs. Leppelt's case was filed July 6.

BRIEF NEWS ABOUT ST. LOUIS

Boys Strike For More Wages.—Twenty boys, from 12 to 16 years old, employed as trimmers and cutters at the Friedman Bros. shoe store, have struck for an increase of $1 a week in their wages. The boys now receive from $4.50 to $5 a week.

Suburban Schedule Faster.—Supt. McCabe announces that he will make slight changes Wednesday in the running time of the Clayton cars on the Suburban line. An attempt was made Monday to reduce the time from De Hodiamont to Meramec Highlands from 45 to 36 minutes, but this was found impracticable.

Virginian's Money Stolen.—Confidence men fleeced James A. Ray of Richmond Va., out of $51 Monday night. Ray was at Union Station and met a man who was willing to show him the sights. They walked to a saloon on Papin street, near Fourteenth street. They had a few drinks and when the stranger drew a roll of bills from his pockets to pay for the liquor an unidentified man snatched the money and ran.

Rooming House Robbed—Mrs. Jenne Dillard, proprietor of a rooming house at 2331 Olive street, reported to the police Tuesday that Monday night there was stolen from her room one ring set with pearls valued at $30, one diamond pin valued at $25, one opal ring valued at $10, one gold cross valued at $10 and $9 in cash. There was one gold dollar and six Columbian half dollars in the money.

GRAIN MEN TO TAKE ACTION.

They Hope to Prevent Discriminations by Railroads Against St. Louis.

For six months St. Louis grain dealers have been shut off from trade with southeastern points.

Railways grant rebates on shipments to these points from Cincinnati and Louisville, so that it is possible for dealers in those cities to sell grain for 2¼@2½c a bushel less than it would bring if shipped from the same farms by St. Louis houses.

St. Louis houses have evidence of unjust discrimination, and President Haarstick of the Merchants' Exchange has appointed Messrs. W. B. Harrison, Maxwell Kennedy, E. S. Tompkins, George W. Powell, A. P. Richardson and E. L. Bartlett a committee to visit Louisville Nov. 7 to confer with the railroad presidents in council in regard to southeast freight conditions.

The committee will endeavor to secure for St. Louis grain men the same privileges granted to those of Cincinnati and Louisville.

FAMOUS BOBB CASE REVIVED.

John J Bobb Will Prosecute It Against Father's Heirs.

Judge Hough and Judge Fisher of the Circuit Court made orders Tuesday morning reviving the famous Bobb case in which Charles and Martha Bobb were defendants prior to their death.

The orders name their heirs as defendants in their stead.

Two months ago motions were filed by John H. Bobb for the heirs to show cause why the proceedings should not be revived against them.

They did appear in answer to the motion and the action of the judges Tuesday was the result.

BOY DROWNS; FALLS FROM WHARFBOAT

PLAYING WITH NEGRO AT FOOT OF VINE STREET.

COLORED BOY TOOK HIS HAT

In Trying to Recover It Youth Slipped and Fell Into the River.

The drowning of an unidentified white boy, who was playing with a colored boy on a wharfboat at the foot of Vine street at 3:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, is being investigated by the police.

James Kennedy, a private watchman for the Eagle Packet Co., reported the occurrence to Policeman James Murphy at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Kennedy told the policeman that during the afternoon two boys were playing on the wharfboat. At about 3:30 o'clock the watchman noticed the negro boy grab the white boy's hat and run down a gangplank. While on the plank the white boy slipped and fell.

He lost his balance and toppled over into the water on the ouside of the wharfboat. The watchman ran to the side of the boat to assist in recovering the body. Kennedy watched in vain for the body to come to the surface. It has not yet been recovered.

The watchman told the police that the negro boy, as soon as he saw his companion fall into the water, turned and ran up the levee. Kennedy said that he could give but a meager description of the boys, as he had never seen them before. Both were about 18 years old and wore dark clothing.

WASHINGTON CAMPUS DESIRED

World's Fair Company Hope to Use It, Erecting Permanent Building as Consideration.

Though no definite action has been taken, and the plan is still in embryo, the use of the Washington University campus is being considered by the World's Fair directors.

Some of the directors are trustees in the university corporation.

Through them, it is said, the plan has been proposed.

No meeting has been held to discuss it, though the directors have held informal talks upon the subject among themselves.

Secretary Stevens of the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Company admits that a plan to utilize the university grounds as a part of the Fair site is being considered.

"It has taken no definite shape as yet," he says, "and will not do so until the return of President Francis, who will be absent a few days."

The plan to utilize the 100 acres of university grounds, which adjoin the Fair site to the northwest, is said to embrace the construction of a permanent building, to cost $1,000,000 or more, and to be the property of the University after the Fair is over.

This is to be in consideration of the use of the grounds.

Walter Williams, editor of the Columbia, Mo., Herald, and curator of the State University, visited World's Fair headquarters Tuesday. He and James H. Mass of Columbia are on their way to New York, whence they will sail for a tour of Europe, Palestine, Egypt and Syria. They will be absent six months, and they expect to devote much of their time to advertising the World's Fair.

TRACKS FOR THE FAIR SITE

B P. I: Gives Louisiana Purchase Company Permission to Build Railroad Switches Wherever Necessary.

By unanimous vote of the board of public improvements, permission was granted Tuesday to the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Co. to lay steam railroad tracks at any point within the World's Fair site.

The request for such permission was sent to Mayor Wells Tuesday morning over the signature of President D. R. Francis.

The mayor referred the request to the board of public improvements, and half an hour was spent by the board in executive session, discussing the request, before it was formally granted.

In his letter to the mayor President Francis said:

"It has become necessary to lay tracks for steam railways in that part of Forest Park set apart by ordinance for the use of this company. We request your consent that the tracks be laid when, where and as deemed necessary by the officers of the company, to be removed at the end of the Exposition.

"Our construction of the ordinance is that the company has the right to lay such tracks without the consent of the city, but we are extremely desirous of operating in harmony with the administration in all matters connected with this enterprise, and, since we have been advised that you hold the contrary view, we desire to avoid the possibility of appearing to injure the public interest or to ignore official authority."

FRANCE SEIZES TURKISH PORTS

the monetary question without delay prove unjustified, and the customs receipts at Mitylene not be sufficient to meet the French claims, Smyrna can yet be occupied. In the meanwhile the occupation of the ports on the Island of Mitylene is more convenient, from a military point of view, as the French cannot be easily disturbed on that island, whereas Smyrna, being on the mainland, its occupation might have more serious developments than desired. The French government, however, trusts that the whole difficulty will very shortly be arranged to its satisfaction and hopes that the treaty stipulations will be carried out by the issue of irades, such as giving certain French schools permission to open, which have thus far been withheld, and also by giving official recognition throughout the Turkish empire, to diplomas issued by the French medical faculty at Beirut, etc.

DOES FRANCE SEEK WAR?

Her Attitude Towards Turkey Causes Much Apprehension.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The assembling of fleets of the great European powers in the Levant (Eastern Mediterranean) is viewed seriously here now.

Government officials thought a few days ago that France's sending of warships to collect some debts from Turkey was stage thunder. Today they incline to think there may be an explosion.

The assertion that France may demand a protectorate over Catholics in the Levant and the report that the British squadron under the Prince of Battenberg is to be sent to Beirout, Syria, opened official eyes here. The Catholics in Turkish territory are nearly all in Syria. The boundaries of that Turkish Villayet extend to within sixty miles of Port Said, the northern end of the Suez canal.

France has never forgiven the British for securing control of the canal. The demand for a protectorate over the Catholics in Syria is looked upon as preliminary to a demand for a protectorate over the Villayet, and the first movement toward a fight for the control of the canal. All the fleets except the French squadron under Admiral Caillard are moving toward the eastern end of the Mediterranean, off the coast of Syria. That fact drew the attention of officials to the crisis.

The Italian squadron is headed for Smyrna as a counter balance to the French under Admiral Caillard, which is going toward the Dardenelles.

The Russian Mediterranean squadron is at Smyrna and a Greek force is also getting ready to go there

These maneuvers would not be looked for except upon the assumption that France and Russia, now that Great Britain is engaged in South Africa, are ready to bring on the crisis by seizing the canal and thereby closing England's highway to the Indian empire.

France's refusal to be satisfied with the Sultan's acceptance of all her terms with regard to the quays and other claims is not comprehensible here, except upon the hypothesis that she is seeking a quarrel. Her demand for a protectorate over the Catholics in the East, after Turkey's acceptance of her claims, raises the suggestion that she expected and hoped for a refusal and that then she intended to bring forward that additional demand.

TRIPLE ALLIANCE NOT NOTIFIED

BERLIN, Nov. 3.—It is learned from a reliable source that France has not up to the present informed the triple alliance of any contemplated naval action in Turkey.

The Tageblatt compares the attitude of M. Delcasse to that of Napoleon III in 1870. Like the Sultain, King William of Prussia had already yielded when France, by urgently pressing new claims, critically embittered the situation.

SEIZURE OF SMYRNA.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily Mail says that he understands that dispatches have been received at the French capital announcing that Admiral Caillard's division of the French Mediterranean squadron has arrived at Smyrna and seized the customs.

NO APPEAL TO ENGLAND.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The British foreign office has had no request from Turkey, as announced by the Constantinople correspondent of the Echo de Paris, to fulfill the terms of the convention of 1878, by which in exchange for the island of Cyprus, Great Britain guaranteed the integrity of the Sultan's Asiatic possessions.

WORLD'S FAIR TO BE BOOMED

Ten prominent St. Louisans, all members of the St. Louis Club, will depart at 4:15 o'clock Tuesday afternoon for Macon, Ga., to attend the wedding there Wednesday of their former fellow-clubman, William Pritchard Coleman, to Miss Ida Winship Mangham.

Mr. Coleman is second vice-president of the American Car and Foundry Co., and lives in New York. He formerly lived in St. Louis.

The members of the St. Louis party are Mayor Rolla Wells, David R. Francis, William H. Lee, William K. Bixby, Corwin H. Spencer, Scott H. Blewitt, Estill McHenry, F. L. Ridgely, N. C. Chapman and M. B. Miltenberger.

They will travel in a special car provided by the Louisville & Nashville railroad, and known as the "Cupid Special."

James E. Davenport, city passenger agent for the Louisville & Nashville, has prepared an itinerary card for the party giving the various stops to be made on the trip.

While en route members of the party will talk World's Fair in every city at which their car stops.

At Nashville, Chattanooga and Evansville committees representing the business men of the cities will meet the party and discuss World's Fair plans.

Thursday will be spent in conference with the state officials of Georgia and Atlanta.

The party will reach Macon at 2:25 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, and will leave there at 3:05 o'clock Thursday morning, returning to St. Louis at 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon.

"RAGTIME" AND THE "REAL" MUSIC MEET

VERDI AND COON SONGS RESOUNDED IN THE ODEON.

RESULT OF THE DUEL A DRAW

Choral Symphony Society and "Buck" Pittman's Minstrels Practice in Opposite Rooms.

Ragtime and "real" music fought it out at the Odeon Monday night.

The recital hall on the left of the main corridor of the Grand avenue home of melody and harmony reverbrated with the glorious strains of Verdi's "Requiem." The recital hall, on the right hand side of the corridor, at the same hour, resounded with the infectious melodies of the Hot Time Minstrels' aristocratic exponents of "coon" melodies.

The result was a draw.

Singers from the side of the house wherein Mrs. James L. Blair—who recently characterized St. Louis as a ragtime city—is prominently interested, spent their spare moments during the evening with their faces pressed against the doors on the opposite side of the corridor drinking in the minstrels' sole-stirring harmonies; while Impressario "Buck" Pittman and his magnanimous associates in return pronounced the sonorous Verdian strains that percolated into their sanctum during lulls in their own efforts as "pretty fine."

Each side of the controversy had plenty business of its own to attend to and there was no "mixing" between the members of the rival vocal institutions. A passing pedestrian, however, might easily have been forced to hear the "'Kyrie" from "The Requiem" flavored with some of the syncopated strains of "Ev'ry Nigger Had a Raglan On" or have been compelled to listen to "My Lady Hottentot" softened with the final fugue from the grand Verdi mass.

Equal Energy Is Displayed.

Equal energy and enthusiasm was displayed on both sides, as the concert of the Choral-Symphony Society, with its beautiful music, including "coloratura" effects, is to be given at the Odeon on Nov. 28; while the Hot Time Minstrels' entertainment, with its delightful program, sparkling with gems of "colored" songs, is to be given in the same hall the night of Nov. 29.

The H. T. M. got the floor, or the building, first and Dewey Hickey started things out in lively fashion by shouting, in his most resonant fashion:

"Ev'ry nigger had a Raglan on,
In his buttonhole a big chrysanthemum,
Silk hat and patent leather shoes,
Gloves and cane so stylish;
High-toned ladies wore their furs and seals,
Some of them came in their automobiles;
In that room were a hundred coons and—
Ev'ry nigger had a Raglan on."

Sixteen of the best-known young men in St. Louis, many of them known as soloists of exceptional ability, repeated the chorus with Mr. Hickey, and when it was concluded with a flourish, there emanated from the opposite side of the hall the somewhat pointed if not personal words, sung with splendid effect and suspiciously distinct intonation:

"Grant them rest,
Grant them rest eternal,
Grant them, grant them, Lord, Thy rest."

Not an Evening For Resting.

But it was an evening not for rest, but for work for the merry, melodious minstrel men and with Mr. Johnnie Dauber as the soloist they sang:

"She is my lady Hottentot,
She is my sweet, forget-me-not,
She is the one I mostly prize,
She has those dreamy eyes;
And from her side I'll never part,
She has a mortgage on my heart,
The birds that coo love you,
My lady Hottentot—tot, tot, tot."

Then the deep, weird music of the "Dies Irae" was wafted from the opposite side of the corridor. Sang the Choral-Symphony chorus with fervor and power:

"Day of Anger, Day of Anger,
Day of Trouble, Day of Trouble,
Time shall perish like a bubble,
So spake David and the Sybil,
Day of Trouble, Day of Trouble,
Time Shall perish like a bubble."

"Buck" Pittman listened, as if transfixed, while the sacred chorus continued. Then he awoke with a start and sang:

"I must 'ave been a-dreamin',
I must 'ave been a-dreamin',
What I heard was only seemin',
I am sure 'twas only seemin',
I must 'ave been a-dreamin',
Dreamin' all the while."

A Ragtime-Millionaire.

If the other minstrels shared Mr. Pittman's views on this point their dreams must have been very pleasant, for the opposition sang more of the sublime Verdi composition in most effective style, flooding the first floor of the Odeon with a wealth of melodic tone in the fortissimo and rivaling the nightingales in the piano portions.

But even these efforts on the part of Mrs. Blair's organization were not sufficient to stem the tide of ragtime across the hall. For even as the Choral-Symphony members were leaving the Odeon their feet moved about nervously as Mr. Frank Davidson danced and sang:

"Im a rag-time millionaire,
I've got nothing but money to spare,
Automobiles floating in the breeze,
I'm afraid I may die of money disease—
Don't bother a minute what those white folks care—
I'm a rag-time millionaire."

WILL FIGHT FOR CUSTODY OF BOY

James Hagan, Aged 83, to Oppose Humane Society.

SAYS LAD HIS ONLY COMFORT

DENIES HE WAS FORBIDDEN TO ATTEND CATHOLIC CHURCH.

Grandfather of the Youth Tells Post-Dispatch Pathetic Story of Aged Couple's Joy and How It Ended.

Paul Hagen, a 12-year-old boy who lived with his grandparents at 1720 Franklin avenue, disappeared from his home two weeks ago.

Monday Mrs. Mary Calkings, president of the Golden Chain Humane Society, went to Clayton to petition Probate Judge G. A. Wurdeman to award the custody of the boy to that organization, promising that a home for him would be found. Mrs. Calkings lives in Maplewood.

It was said that the youth left his home because his grandmother would not let him worship at a Catholic church. The boy's grandfather told the following story to the Post-Dispatch Tuesday:

BY JAMES HAGEN.

The Golden Chain Humane Society shall not have by grandson Paul Hagan. I will fight them for my boy.

I am an old broken man 83 years of age and near the end, yet I work every day—I am still working for my boy, whom the Humane Society wants to take from me, and his sister, Maude, who is with us now.

They are the children of my dead son Jimmie. They are all that I and my old wife have to care for and to love.

Our hearts were broken when Paul ran away from us. He left Wednesday, Oct. 23. We heard that Mrs. Calkins of the Golden Cnain Humane Society went to court at Clayton Monday to secure the aid of the law in robbing us of our boy.

We didn't know where our missing boy was. Is it humanity for these ladies to take our boy from us? Is it justice for the law to take him from two old people who have worked for years for him and his sister and are living and working for the children alone?

Is Fatherless and Motherless.

Paul is fatherless and motherless.

When my poor boy Jimmie died and his children were left to me, Maude, the girl, could walk and talk. Paul was a baby.

My wife and I were old then, but they made new life for us. We had been lonely since our own babies had grown up and left us.

It was never a question of means. I am a street inspector, and I have always made good money, and then I had enough put by to last my wife and I. We were ready to quit work and fold our hands to wait the final call, till those blessed children came to us.

Their coming meant work, but there was joy in working for them.

My years sat lightly upon me in those happy days when the babies were small. It was such a pleasure to see them run to grandpa's arms when the day was done. They would climb on my knee, both of them, and pull my gray hair and ransack my dinner pail to look for candy. How they squealed in delight whey they discovered the sweets!

When the supper dishes were cleared wife and I would sit around the grate with the babies and I would tell them stories—tale of the times when I was a policeman. How they laughed to hear that grandpap, old, lame, gray-haired Grandpap, wore a blue coat once and looked as big as the patrolman on the beat.

Told Them Bible Stories.

We taught our babies the stories of the Bible. When they grew older wife took them to the Centenary Church, where she holds membership, and both the children have attended Sunday School since they were able to walk.

It's nonsense to say our boy went away because we did not want him to join the Catholic church. All churches suit me. I wanted my boy to love his maker. I did not care what church he attended.

I educated him too. He is in the next to the highest room at Franklin School. I sent him to school the day he left us.

My boy began giving us trouble three weeks ago. He had been spending his time with Mrs. Bailey, who lives next door to us. She makes money sewing trousers for a factory and she taught Paul to sew buttons. I granted her permission to take him to a Catholic Church. She took him to the negro church at Fourteenth street, near Morgan.

Then I forbade him to go to a colored church—I don't believe in mixing races. Wednesday night, two weeks ago tomorrow, Paul talked back to his grandma after she reproved him for sepdning the evening with Mrs. Bailey. Then wife hit him three times with a switch.

Next day Paul ran away. We hunted for him everywhere, but I thought he was in Mrs. Bailey's rooms.

Then this Humane Society woman, Mrs. Calkins, came and talked with Mrs. Bailey.

I waited to see her in the hallway, Mrs. Bailey wouldn't let me in the room.

Talks With Mrs. Calkins.

"I am Mrs. Calkins, president of the Golden Chain Humane Society," she said when she left Mrs. Bailey. "And you won't be hurt, my good man. I am afraid you have been beating this poor child. But we'll look out for him," she says.

I got mad. Who looked out for that boy, when he was a baby? Who bought him shoes and stockings and clothes and food? Who has worked for him, loved him and protected him for all these years? Have you no babies of your own to take care of, and can't let my baby alone?" I asked.

"Can you find a better home for the boy than mine? Can you find anyone who will take care of him better than his old grandparents?"

She kept on saying: "Now, you shan't be hurt" and then she left. She would not tell me where my boy was and didn't pay any attention to my pleadings to see him. I have hired a lawyer and if there is justice in the courts I am going to get my boy and bring him home.

"I saw Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Johnson Tuesday morning. He told me to come back at 2 o'clock Tuesday with Robert McLaran, my attorney, and present my case. He said he would do the right thing by me, and issue a warrant if the circumstances justified it and the case came within the criminal code.

"I will spend all my savings to recover the boy, but first I must find out where he is hidden and ask him to come home again. I believe he is secreted in Maplewood. Mrs. Mary Calkins of the Golden Chain Humane Society lives there, but I do not know whether or not my grandson is hiding in her house.

"She must know where he is, for she asked for his custody Monday at Clayton."

YOUTHFUL BURGLARS HELD.

Lee and Joe Linneberg in Jail for Three Cases of Stealing.

Lee and Joe Linneberg, 16 and 17 years old, were given a preliminary hearing in the Court of Criminal Correction Tuesday on three charges of burglary and larceny and were held to the grandjury in $800 bonds in each case.

The boys live on Cass avenue, near Twelfth street. They are well dressed and do not have the appearance of criminals.

It was proved that they had entered the saloon and grocery of William Gemmer at 1544 North Ninth street; the saloon of George W. Aring at 1029 Cass avenue, and the saloon and grocery of Charles Soeker at 931 Cass avenue, and had taken plunder in each case. They offered no defense.

BURGLARS GAG THE WATCHMAN

They Loot Kamerer's Saloon in the County.

Two burglaries occurred at Maplewood Monday night, and in one case a watchman was left bound and gagged.

When Fred Kammerer, who lives at Edgebrook, went to his saloon Tuesday morning, at the junction of the Old and New Manchester roads, he found Mike Fox, his nightwatchman, lying upon the floor securely bound with rope and gagged so that he was unable to speak.

When the gags were removed Fox declared that he had no knowledge of what had occurred during the night. He said that he had been intoxicated, and he still showed the effects of the liquor.

Mr. Kammerer found that the door had been broken open and that the burglars had taken several boxes of cigars, $6.85 in nickels and a number of dimes. The place was topsy-turvey.

The residence of William Whren, just on the county line in Maplewood, on Vine street. Linden place, was robbed early in the night.

Mr. and Mrs. Whren went to a neighbor's to spend two hours. When they returned they found that burglars had forced an entrance to the house and carried away property which they value at $500.

A large quantity of silver plate was tawen. Other household goods were stolen.

THE PRESIDENT WILL VOTE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—President Roosevelt left Long Island City for Oyster Bay at 9 o'clock. He was accompanied by Secretary Cortelyou, Assistant Secretary Loeb and several friends. The party rode in a special train consisting of a Pullman and a combination car. The crowd at the depot cheered the President as he entered the train at Long Island City. The run to Oyster Bay occupied about thirty minutes.

There was no notable incident in connection with the casting of his vote. Afterward the President took a rapid drive to his home on Sagamore Hill, Little Neck Cove.

The special train left Oyster Bay on the return trip at 11 o'clock. Those who accompanied the President on the trip to Oyster Bay were his cousin, Wm. E. Roosevelt, Dr. Holbrook Curtis, W. J. Youngs, who was Mr. Roosevelt's private secretary when he was governor, and Secretaries Cortelyou and Loeb.

Secret service and New York detectives also accompanied the train.

DOWLING NOT INDICTED.

For This Reason He Hopes His Wife Will Withdraw Divorce Suit.

The grandjury returned six ignored bills to Judge Ferris' division of the criminal court Tuesday morning.

One was in the case of Michael Dowling, who was charged with entering the Teckenburg Commission Co.'s store and taking 12 chickens June 11. Papers were served on him Monday onforming him that his wife had applied for a divorce. Dowling was delighted to know that he had not been indicted and he said that his acquittal in all probability would put a quietus upon his wife's attempt to obtain a divorce.

Other ignored bills were in the cases of Minnie Fagin, Lon L. Wylie and Harry McNiel, charged with assault to kill; Frank Williams, grand larceny, and Edward LaBee, criminal assault.

Car Collides With Wagon.—Easton avenue car No. 2083 collided with a one-horse wagon in front of 4835 Easton avenue at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon. The wagon was owned by the Charles Wessmeth Packing Co., 1111 North Twelfth street, and driven by Gus Hengelage, 1524 Benton street. It was damaged to the extent of $25.

Throughout Africa the cow's horn is a favorite instrument, being used in connection with others on all festival occasions.

ETHEL BARRYMORE WINS ST. LOUIS

THEATER GOERS OVER AT THE OLYMPIC

WITH HER WORK IN "CAPTAIN JINKS"

ETHEL BARRYMORE
OLYMPIC.

There is nothing the matter with "Captain Jinks of the Horse Marines" or with Miss Ethel Barrymore, who presented it at the Olympic last night to one of the most brilliant and most highly entertained audiences of this season of big audiences.

Clyde Fitch has written a real comedy and Mr. Frohman has cast a real comedienne in the star part.

"Captain Jinks" is really the most delightful entertainment in many respects that has been seen at the Olympic this season. It is so delightful that a whole lot of people will see it more than once during the brief week it will remain in St. Louis.

The evening's entertainment began with the first strains played by the orchestra, the overture, if so it may be termed, being a potpourri of old familiar tunes, beginning with "Captain Jinks" and ending with "Tassels on Her Boots." The atmosphere of a quarter of a century ago was already created when the curtain went up on the first act, and it kept growing more pronounced until the close of the second act. By that time it had so permeated every nook and corner of the theater that any further increase was not noticed.

The play is best described as a comedy of manners of the time of the Grant-Greeley campaign, although politics has nothing whatever to do with the play outside of furnishing a few bright lines and three striking red marching uniforms for three young men about town. It might also be described as a comedy of dress, for the exhibition of the costumes of the period when the bustle and the "Grecian bend" were striking characteristics of feminine make-up was one of the features of the performance.

But after all it was not the play—dainty, crisp, grotesque and natural though it be—that charmed, so much as it was the leading player, Miss Ethel Barrymore. From the time of her first entrance she is almost continually on the stage, and when she isn't you wish she were.

It is difficult to tell wherein lies the charm of Miss Barrymore's acting, but first and foremost it lies in her perfect self-control and absolute accuracy of every stage detail. Her work is always clean-cut. There are no ragged edges. She acts as a thoroughbred trots—she never breaks or stumbles. If you are familiar with the artistic work of her gifted grandmother; if you can recall the dainty and perfect poise of her mother; if you will reflect upon the forceful and polished acting of her distinguished father and then add to them the charming personality of a young and attractive woman, you will probably come pretty close to knowing the amount of attractiveness to be found in this rising young star.

But in spite of the professional blood that runs warm in her veins, Miss Barrymore is not a second edition of any of her ancestors. She has a style of speech and carriage that is all her own. When you have heard the former you will not soon forget it. It is accentuated in the character of Mme. Trentoni, the opera singer, born in Trenton, N. J., and educated abroad, as impersonated by Miss Barrymore in "Captain Jinks." It seems to exactly fit the part, which is that of a young woman, flushed with operatic triumphs, who loses her heart, only to find that her love has been wrongly bestowed and then again to find that it hasn't.

Mr. Fitch's play gives his star plenty of opportunity to display all of her ability. The humor is not forced; it is spontaneous and crops out in unexpected places. There are no attempts at thrilling dramatic climaxes, like some we have seen recently, but there are still plenty of dramatic situations and strong, bright lines that fit them.

The noticeable thing about the lines is the total absence of unnecessary words. Never was dialogue more abbreviated, yet the story is completely told. Its conciseness is its strong point. And when the curtain dropped abruptly, you would like to have had the characters say something more. I believe I am telling the exact truth when I say that the greater part of the audience was surprised to see that it was 10:45 o'clock when they left the theater.

There are some good actors in the company besides Miss Barrymore. Estelle Mortimer made an excelelnt chaperon, George W. Howard was a capital Capt. Jinks and M. J. Gallagher was the best policeman I ever saw on the stage. The reporters were real reporters and the ballet was a most grotesque aggregation.

Weston and Yost gave a whole lot of spectators a surprise yesterday at the Columbia, both afternoon and evening. Their sketch is written for just that particular purpose and it does what it aims to do. It also created at least two score laughs—that is about the number of points made and every point scored. It is infact the most novel of all the new things, and novelty these days is what counts.

Emily Lytton also has a very novel idea in her sketch, "A Perfect Lady;" but she needs better support in working it out. As it is it is too talky and lacks action. But it took with Columbia audiences any way. Mme. Emmy, with her trained dogs, also furnish good entertainment, as also does Kara, the juggler. The only trouble with Kara is that he undertakes some feats that are almost impossible, and when he fails at the first attempt it gives his audience a nimpression that he is not up in his work.

[illegible] turns on the long program are: Clark and Whitney, black face comedians; [illegible] Wills and Barron, comedy sketch [illegible]; "The Tipton Slasher," Benny Yanger, bag punching expert; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Deave, and their manikins; Flora Adler, vocalist; Lew Hawkins, minstrel, and Bader and La Velle, bicyclists.

OPENINGS IN THE EAST.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The traditions of Old Drury Lane and the familiarities of Broadway are joined in the fairy extravaganza which Klaw & Erlanger have transported from London to New York. The mating is not a happy one, as was noted at the Broadway theater last evening. The spectacle was very English—formal, old-fashioned, childish in a way, with a reminder of boxing night in its insistence of the details of the fairy tale fashioned for stage effect; the comedy was of the sort colloquially known as "Tenderloinese"—rough and ready, assertive and aggressive, full of horse-play and nonsense, with broad parody, broken German dialect and rag-time rhythms. The result was disastrous to the illustrated recital of the nursery tale of "Sleeping Beauty and the Beast." The performance assumed an air of a variety show by three popular entertainers—Harry Buluger, Charles J. Ross and Joseph Cawthorne—with interruptions in the form of ballets and transformation scenes.

There was much to admire in the spectacular incidents—several superb groupings, one with a myriad of ballet girls in beautiful costumes of nature's flora—daisies, pink roses, wisterias, primroses and holly berries, and the seven aerial dancers in dainty furs, typifying winter, hovering above; another with a multitude of lords and ladies in snowy white countermarching in the converging rays of fierce white light; nimble dancing by tiny fairies and still tinier Cupids, and finally the extraordinary palace, with its mosaic of amber and crystal, its dome rising up into the flies, its massive candelabras, its curving stairways, its three fountains, all aglow with refulgent color.

To the eye all this was most satisfying. But it was only the general effect that told.

Detailed, the spectacle was not up to date. The mechanical tricks were not novel, the dancing was stiff and devoid of grace, the women lacked of beauty of face and the children seemed to shiver and shrivel in the wrinkling tights. It was a far cry from the beauty shows, the vim and zest of the girls, the gorgeous garbs, worn with chic, and the consciousness of triumph which distinguish the several displays in town.

The extravaganza needs pruning, grafting and chopping. It will then be an attractive entertainment.

Clyde Fitch's comedy, "The Way of the World," was produced at the Victoria Theater last night before an audience made up largely of the exclusive social class whose personal and domestic affairs and foibles it sought to represent.

The drama brought Miss Elsie DeWolf forward prominently as its star.

It was Mrs. Clara Bloodgood, however, who proved to be the real star of the play. She was a former leader among the "400," and when financial misfortune, sickness and death swept away her estate and took her husband from her she turned to the stage for a living. She began modestly, and is now reaping rich reward. In last night's play she impersonated a typical woman of the world, divorced, cynical, outspoken, impulsive, but innately good; and she represented the type so naturally and spontaneously that from the first she carried the sympathy of the audience. Her acting was delightful, and to her fell the cleverest, most significant lines of the play.

The manner in which the play was mounted was lavish in its richness. The mechanism by which the movements of its characters were controlled was faultless. The personages moved through the scenes as in real life. The gradual development of the drama to its culminative situation was dexterous.

The play cannot fail to command interest, but will not be accepted seriously as the logical conduct of men and women in real life. In other plays Mr. Fitch has been happier in his plots, although no more correct in his craft.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Charles Dalton, he of "The Sign of the Cross" fame, opened in his new play, "The Helmet of Navarre," at the National Theater last night. He is generally credited with making a success. Miss Bertha Runkle, the author of the book and a collaborator in constructing the drama, saw the production. The Washington Post says:

"Mr. Dalton must be credited with an instantaneous hit. He is a man of impressively fine physique and the part of Etienne de Mar is well fitted to his statuesque and artistic proportions. Mr. Dalton's conception expresses a comprehensive range of moods from the devil-may-care gayety of the typical soldier of fortune to the sentimental exaltation of the chivalrous gallant. The story is well told. It is entitled to be classed as one of the best book dramas on the stage. The play was mounted on a most elaborate scale and with marked fidelity to the spirit. A very large cast of excellent players served to bring out the best there was in the play. Rose Eytinge and George Wessels especially distinguished themselves."

SPAGHETTI ON CHURCH ALTAR

Joseph Arrata Astonished Mrs. Hale During Service by Presenting Her With Steaming Dish.

Such is the esteem in which Joseph Arrata holds Mrs. Mary McGee Hall, the local Dowieite leader, that he presented her with a dish of steaming hot spaghetti in the midst of the final service of the sect at the Second Baptist Church Sunday afternoon.

In presenting the spaghetti, Mr. Arrata believed that he was expressing the highest regard for the evangelist, in whose theories he believes implicitly.

The church had been purchased at forced sale the day before by S. A. Bemis, one of the Second Baptist trustees, Rev. and Mrs. Hall having failed to meet payments for which they obligated themselves when they bought the church a year ago and paid $10,000 down.

Arrata, who was baptized into the Dowieite faith by Mrs. Hall not long ago, bid $48,000 for the property, which was knocked down to him, but he was unable to pay the $2000 down which was required. He said he wanted to buy the church for Mrs. Hall.

Mr. Bemis then made a bid of $43,000, and the auctioneer awarded the church property to him.

"Some time ago," said Mrs. Hall to the Post-Dispatch Tuesday, "Mr. Arrata became a member of our sect. He was an invalid and we prayed for him. This caused him to be exceedingly grateful to us.

"After Mr. Arrata bid on the church and failed to get it, in our behalf, he was much disappointed. He came to me and said he was very sorry that I had lost my money and my opportunity to redeem the church. Mr. Arrata was exceedingly sympathetic, and I suppose he wished to express his sympathy, in a measure, by presenting me with the spaghetti. He brought it in during the service and set it down on the altar.

"Of course, I was a little nonplussed, but I explained to the congregation that Mr. Arrata had taken this way to express sympathy and friendship. Mr. Bemis then called with a policeman and had Arrata put out. However, I don't think he knew of the spaghetti incident."

"Biggest and Best."

The American Newspaper Directory, Geo. P. Rowell & Co., New York, issued a list of papers, one from each state, selected by them, upon investigation, as the largest circulated paper in the state. The St. Louis Post-Dispatch, as everybody knows, has the post of honor for the State of Missouri in this list. George P. Rowell & Co. might have truthfully added, the largest in any state between the Mississippi river and Pacific ocean.

MRS. WILLIAM REEDY BURIED.

Service Was at St. Francis Xavier's and Interment at Calvary.

The funeral of Mrs. William Marion Reedy was held at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning from the family home, 509 North Spring avenue, to St. Francis Xavier's Church, at Grand avenue and Lindell boulevard.

The services were conducted by Father Sullivan.

The interment was made in Calvary Cemetery.

GIVES CARBOLIC ACID TO GIRL.

Caroline Miller in Critical Condition Because of Mother's Error.

Six-year-old Caroline Miller, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. James H. Miller, living at 5061 Kensington avenue, is in a critical condition at her home, because of a tablespoonful of carbolic acid that her mother administered to her at 11 o'clock Monday night by mistake.

Rev. Mr. Miller is at Clarksville, Miss., and little Caroline has been under the doctor's care for several days. At 11 o'clock Tuesday night the child was suffering and was unable to sleep. Mrs. Miller arose to give her a dose of medicine. By mistake she got a bottle containing carbolic acid.

The mistake was discovered instantly and Mrs. Miller sent for Drs. Finley and Ament. They administered soothink potions, but the powerful acid had already begun to take effect and they said the child's condition was critical.

The Oddfellows' Widows' and Orphans' Home, Corsicana, Tex.

We have in the Oddfellows' Widows' and Orphans' Home eighty children from 1½ to 18 years of age, and for the ills of indigestion and constipation to which children are frequently subject, we have found nothing so satisfactory, so pleasant to take and so effective as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and Herb Laxative Compound, which we have used since June, 1900.

This remedy was introduced into our institution through the kindness of a member of our order who was formally a citizen of Monticello, Ill., where Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is manufactured.

It is as good for grown people as for children and we heartily recommend it to all sufferers from stomach and bowel troubles.

SAYS SHOT WAS AN ACCIDENT.

James Mount Wounds James Karnes While Trying to Protect Him.

James Karnes of Senath, Mo., was accidentally shot in the neck Monday night by James L. Mount, a saloonkeeper at Jefferson avenue and Wash street.

The shooting occurred in front of Mount's saloon and Mount claims that he was trying to protect Karnes at the time.

Mount had refused to sell liquor to Karnes and was anxious to get him out of his saloon. He telephoned for a hack for Karnes whereupon a man who gave his name as Robert Robison of 2801 Olive street accused Mount of calling for the patrol wagon. Mount drew his revolver to protect himself and the weapon, he says, was accidentally discharged.

The bullet struck Karnes in the neck, making a slight wound.

Karnes fought the attendants at the City Hospital and was forcibly subdued.

Mount and Robison were arrested and will be sent before the Dayton Street Police Court.

FIGHTS WITH TWO BURGLARS.

Private Watchman Herzog Has Pistol Battle, But Men Escape.

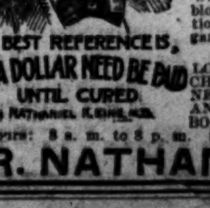
Private Watchman Anton Herzog fought a bloodless battle with two unidentified burglars in the establishment of the Drayage Transfer Co., 407 South Main street, at 2:30 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Herzog was making his usual round when he discovered the two men prowling around the premises. He commanded them to halt. They attempted to get away. Herzog drew his revolver and fired at the men. They drew their weapons and returned the fire and escaped.

SLAIN BY HIS OWN WIFE.

Terrible Tragedy in the Deep Forests of Maine.

MILO, Me., Nov. 5.—The jury which investigated the murder of Thomas Gero, at Chesuncook, a region far up in the woods beyond Moosehead lake, has found that he came to his death from knife wounds inflicted by his wife. The chief witness was a guide, Fred Holt, who was going down the lake in a canoe. He heard screams at the Gero cabin, and going ashore looked into the cabin and saw Mrs. Gero standing over her husband with a bloody knife in her hand. Mrs. Gero is being brought out of the woods by the sheriff for a court hearing.



VARICOCELE
(Cured without operation or detention from business.)

Hundreds of men are leading a life of misery—afflicted with this terrible disease and not knowing what ails them. It is a disease of the return circulation of the Testicles, gradually implanting itself on the Spermatic Cord, testicles and surrounding tissue, resembling to the touch a bunch of earthworms. Symptoms Heavy, dragging pains in the small of the back, extending down into the parts, low spirits, nervous debility, loss of sexual powers and frequently a decline in health. I cure varicocele without pain or surgery, and remove every drop of stagnated blood and diseased tissue from the affected parts. Normal circulation is re-established throughout the pelvic region, weakened organs become strong and sturdy; manhood is restored.

I CURE WITH THE SAME GUARANTEE OF SUCCESS LOSS OF MANLY VIGOR, STRICTURE, UNNATURAL DISCHARGES, CONTAGIOUS BLOOD POISON, SCROFULA, KIDNEY, BLADDER AND PROSTATIC TROUBLES, RUPTURE AND PILES.

FRIDAY AND THE THIRTEENTH

These Unlucky Days Followed Joseph Keith.

NOW SENTENCED TO HANG

HE WAS PROVEN GUILTY OF MURDER OF NORA KIFER.

Every Important Event in His Association With Her and His Trial Came on One or Other of the Fated Days.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Nov. 5.—Mrs. Keith, wife of Joseph D. Keith, who will be executed at Michigan City prison Nov. 15 for the cruel murder of pretty Nora Kifer of Warrick County, lives at Elberfield in abject poverty, with her son Jesse, aged 16. She is too poor to visit the prison to see her husband before he is hanged.

Until two years ago Keith was one of the wealthiest men in Warrick County, and his name was respected. He owned a large farm, lent money, and his family had everything that purse could buy. Then came his arrest on the charge of the murder of Nora Kifer, and with this arrest the wife showed her devotion to the man whom she had married.

She owned a farm and had money in the bank in her name and agreed to sacrifice all for her husband. Today she hasn't a cent. Her farm is gone, and living in a little cabin with her son in the hills of Warrick County she is battling bravely for bread. When the news that the Supreme Court had affirmed the decision of the lower court reached Mrs. Keith, she said:

She Believes Him Innocent.

"That means that I will never again see my husband alive. I would like to go to Michigan City and tell him good-by before they kill him, but I will be denied that privilege. I still believe he is innocent and ought not to be punished. But God will punish those who have brought this upon him."

It is probable the remains of Keith will be buried in the cemetery at the prison north, as Mrs. Keith cannot stand the expense of shipping the corpse home.

Prisoner Keith has a horror of Friday and the 13th of the month. Every important circumstance in his case has transpired either on Friday or the 13th of the month. The following dates will prove interesting reading for the superstitious:

1. Sept. 13, 1899, Keith rented part of his farm to the father of Nora Kifer, and Nora moved there that day.
2. The last Friday in September, 1899, Keith returned to Indianapolis, where he went to attend a grand lodge meeting, and wanted Nora to accompany him.
3. Dec. 13, 1899, Keith took Nora Kifer on her first trip to Evansville.
4. On the Friday following he took the girl to Mrs. May Morelock, in this city, to board.
5. Jan. 13 Keith gave Mrs. Morelock a check for $95 for Nora's board.
6. April 13, 1900, Mr. Kifer, the father of the girl, received his first letter from Keith in red ink. The letter was signed "Nora" and was in Keith's handwriting.

Had Their First Talk

7. May 13 Keith and Kifer had their talk about the missing girl.
8. Friday following this Keith and Kifer talked in the field and Kifer said the man who wrote the letter was the murderer of the girl.
10. Friday, July 13, Keith had his preliminary trial at Boonville.
11. Thirteen months to a day after meeting the girl Keith's trial was called at Princeton.
12. The rock which Keith tied around Nora's neck before throwing her in the creek weighed exactly 13 pounds.
13. Friday, Jan. 4, the most damaging testimony was given against Keith.
14. Friday, Jan. 11, Keith found guilty and the death penalty assessed.
15. Friday, Nov. 4, Supreme Court affirms the decision of the lower court.

WEDDING PLANS ARE CHANGED

Miss Bagnell and Mr. Babbitt Marry Nine Days Before the Date Announced by Cards.

As announced in the 7 o'clock edition of the Post-Dispatch, the marriage of Byron T. Babbitt and Miss Nellie Bagnell took place at 5 o'clock Monday evening in the chapel of Christ Church Cathedral, nine days in advance of the published date for the wedding.

It is said that illness in the family of the bride caused the change in the arrangements.

Only a few relatives and intimate friends witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Carroll M. Davis.

So quickly were the plans for the wedding formed that it was found impossible to communicate with Nathaniel McDonald, chief deputy clerk of the United States Circuit Court, who was to have been best man.

Judge Thayer of the United States Circuit Court, uncle of the groom, was in attendance. He was notified by telephone.

The bride is a niece of William Bagnell of 12 Westmoreland place. She returned recently from a trip to Europe.

Mr. Babbitt is a lawyer and is a United States commissioner.

Mr. and Mrs. Babbitt will live at the Bagnell residence for a few weeks, after which they will travel through the South. They will be at home to friends after their return at Hotel Franklin.

LEOPOLD DELAYS VISIT.

King of the Belgians Puts Off His Trip to the United States.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

(Copyright, 1901, by Press Publishing Co.)

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Nov. 5.—The Post-Dispatch is authorized to state that King Leopold has abandoned for the present his projected visit to the United States.

The objections of his ministers, and it is believed the advice of the Belgian minister at Washington, who sounded the State Department on the subject, have prevailed for the time being, but the King says he refuses to give up the expectation of making a trip which has been one of the great desires of his life.

World to End Next Year.

This is the recent decision of one of the prominent societies of the world, and while there may be a few people who will believe this prediction, there are thousands of others who not only believe but know from experience that there is only one sure cure for all stomach, liver and bowel complaints, and that is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. It has been very highly recommended by prominent physicians because it has always been found reliable. We urge those who are suffering from indigestion, dyspepsia, constipation, flatulency, nervousness or insomnia, to give it a fair trial. Do not accept a substitute. The genuine has our Private Die Stamp over the neck of the bottle.

Mme. Yale's
HAIR TONIC

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:—

It affords me great pleasure to call the attention of the public to Mme. Yale's Excelsor Hair Tonic, which is the first and only remedy know to chemistry which positively turns gray hair back to its original color without dye. It has gone on record that Mme. Yale—wonderful woman chemist—has made the most valuable of all chemical discoveries. Mme. Yale personally indorses its action, and gives the public her solemn guaranty that it has been tested in every conceivable way and has proved itself to be the ONLY Hair Specific. It STOPS HAIR FALLING immediately and creates a luxuriant growth. Contains no injurious ingredient. Physicians and chemists invited to analyze it. It is not sticky or greasy; on the contrary, it makes the hair soft, youthful, fluffy and keeps it in curl. For gentlemen and ladies with hair a little gray, streaked gray, entirely gray and with bald heads, it is especially recommended.

LEFT A TRAIL OF DIAMONDS

Daylight Robbery of Cincinnati Jewelry House.

SHOW WINDOW IS BROKEN

THIEVES SIEZE GEMS VALUED AT ABOUT $20,000.

Course of Their Flight Plainly Marked By Diamonds That Fell From Their Hands as They Ran.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 5.—Early today thieves broke the big show window of the Duhme Jewelry Co.'s store, on Fourth street, between Vine and Race, and stole about $20,000 worth of diamonds.

In their flight they left a trail of diamonds indicating the direction they took.

The night watchman, who was on the floor where the robbery took place, says he heard no noise and saw nothing of the robbers.

The diamonds stolen were loose in a tray and the thieves are supposed to have taken advantage of the noise of a passing wagon or car to break the glass and seize the tray and run, as they overlooked much valuable goods in the same window.

"CALL ME THE MAN WHO WAS"

Strange Request of Life Sentence Prisoner Who Would Hide His Identity.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DULUTH, Minn., Nov. 5.—James King, as he calls himself, who is serving a life sentence for murder, appears more to fear that his family in New York State will hear of his disgrace than to regret the long years of servitude to which he is doomed.

In a fit of rage, he shot and killed William Carson, a bartender, at Hibbing, Minn. Nothing saved him from the death penalty but the fact that he was intoxicated at the time, and could not have premeditated the crime, since the men had no previous quarrel.

"I have one dread," said King, "and it is that my parents in New York State will in some way hear of my fate. I want to spare them if I can. For that reason I shall never divulge my name. I would walk to the gallows if I was sure that that would protect them.

"I shall never use the name of the town where I was born and where my parents and brothers and sisters live. That would afford a clew to my identity. I have never written home since I came to Minnesota from Michigan ten years ago, and it is now 23 years since I left home.

"I once read a story entitled, 'The Man Who Was.' I have been known for many years under an assumed name, and I never expect to hear my true name pronounced again. I, too, shall be 'a man who was.'"

King reads much, and has a love of history. He says that his eyes are failing him, and is alarmed for fear he will not be able to read.

FALL FROM A SCAFFOLD FATAL

Rope Holding Scaffold at Anheuser-Busch's Breaks and One Man Is Killed.

William Barr and Harry McKenna, iron workers, fell from a scaffold at the Anheuser-Busch Brewery Monday afternoon and Barr was instantly killed. McKenna's injuries are serious.

The two men fell from a height of 45 feet. The drop line of the scaffold broke as the scaffold was being hoisted into position.

Barr was on the lower end of the scaffold and was thrown to the ground in such a manner that his brains were dashed out. McKenna had his right leg broken and received internal injuries. He is a patient at the Mullanphy Hospital.

Barr was married, and lived at 1414 Bissell street. McKenna is single and lives at 2715 North Garrison avenue.

BOERS PLAYED CLEVER TRICK

Kitchener Says Under Cover of British Ambulance They Carried Off Guns They Had Captured.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Lord Kitchener, in a report to the war office under date of Nov. 4, giving further details of the recent engagement near Brakenlaagte, eastern Transvaal, between Col. Benson's column and the Boers, says:

"The Boers were unable to remove the guns they captured until a British ambulance went out, when, under cover of the ambulance, the burghers carried them off. The Boer losses were undoubtedly heavy, but no correct estimate of them is obtainable. Commandant Opperman was killed and Chris Botha was wounded. The Boers are reported to have behaved badly to the British wounded."

Lord Kitchener further reports that Cape Colony to the eastward of the western railway is cleared of Boers with the exception of Fouche-Myburg-Wessels' command of 400, with which Gen. French is dealing.

INSANE MAN SLAIN IN FIERCE DUEL

PATIENTS AT CITY HOSPITAL FIGHT TO DEATH.

LARGER COMBATANT KILLED

Patrick McGovern Kicks George Mueller in the Head Until Life Is Extinct.

Patrick McGovern and George Mueller, insane patients of the city poorhouse, fought in a corridor at the institution Monday, and Mueller, who was the larger and more powerful man of the two, was killed by his antagonist.

When the encounter was discovered by attendants, Mueller was lying on the floor, having been felled by a blow from a mop handle, and McGovern was kicking him in the head and stomach. Mueller died a half hour later.

Mueller had been an inmate of the poorhouse for nearly four years, and McGovern for 18 months. McGovern was an epileptic, and had given no trouble before. Mueller was a harmless imbecile. He has a brother, Henry Mueller, living at 1228 North Twelfth street.

BIGGEST WEST OF THE MISSISSIPPI.

CAN THEY BE SUBDUED?

England is counting the cost of her latest venture in imperialism.

The South African war, now two years long, has cost her $1,000,000,000, and 100,000 men dead and wounded. The daily charge is now more than $1,000,000 a day, with no expectation of improvement.

The driblets of news which the censors suffer to come through go to show that the spirit and vigor of the Boers is undiminished and that England's difficulties are greater than ever. Disaster follows disaster. The Boers seem invincible.

England's empire has been built upon the destruction of feeble savages. For the first time in her imperial career she confronts a people determined to be free. They are men strong and virile. They look back 300 years upon a line of ancestors to whom liberty was always sweet. And they nobly continue the tradition of their race. Few in numbers and illy equipped, England has failed to subdue them.

Can an imperial policy prevail against a people of this character? Switzerland was conquered but never subdued and soon regained her freedom. Holland was harried by the Spaniards, but held her own and rose from the lowest misery to the highest prosperity. Ireland is conquered; is she subdued? Mr. Chamberlain says, "No."

So with the Boers. The policy of conquest is practicable against inferior races. But when applied to the reduction of a stalwart people, physical force seems powerless to overcome the moral factor.

This limitation should be recognized by all nations, for it is doubtful if it can ever be transcended. England reeling under the awful burden of the impossible is a striking illustration of this truth.

COST OF DRESS.

A lady who was asked whether she agreed with Mrs. Roosevelt, replied, "Oh, yes, I could dress on $300 a year, if I had the $300."

The discussion in the Sunday Post-Dispatch of Nov. 3 is from this point of view. Women of limited means may read with curiosity the opinions of ladies who spend a thousand a year and recommend $300. But it is of no personal interest to them, because they haven't the $300.

One writer shows how for $189 a year a woman in moderate circumstances can dress very nicely.

"To dress well and economically is intuition to the average woman," says this writer. Upon which it may be observed that in this respect the vast majority of women are average. The woman is rare who can't dress tastefully if she puts her wits to work.

It isn't necessary to wait for the $300. If you have $150 you need not fear you will ever look shabby.

PUBLIC LIBRARY AT THE FAIR.

The suggestion that a branch library be made one of the features of the World's Fair and that it be housed in a permanent building commends itself as useful and public spirited.

As the public library trustees point out, more branch libraries will be needed than can be built with Mr. Carnegie's $500,000. One will be especially desirable in the neighborhood of Forest Park or in the park. And no better beginning could be made than a model exhibit at the World's Fair.

Since the public library is a peculiarly American institution, it is especially appropriate that it should be illustrated at the World's Fair.

The two ends can be accomplished—a model library as an exhibit of the Exposition and a permanent building for the city. The scheme ought to enlist the hearty sympathy and co-operation of all citizens.

BUSINESS AND REFORM.

What did Andrew Carnegie mean when in response to a question of a reporter concerning the steel situation he said: "I am out of business; I have reformed."

Is it necessary for a man to get out of business to reform?

Undoubtedly a revolution has taken place in Mr. Carnegie. From a most active, agile and successful money getter, he has changed into a most active, agile and successful money giver.

But is it not possible to do a little reforming while engaged in business? Is there not a happy mean between business and philanthropy, between getting and giving which will enable a man to do both without turning off the steam and substituting one set of machinery for another?

ARE YOU DISCONTENTED?

The Post-Dispatch has already commented on the address of John D. Rockefeller to his church, in which he told the story of his beginnings.

Mr. Rockefeller's story is the epic of success, and the main spring of it is discontent.

At the bottom of progress is discontent. Johnnie Rockefeller was discontented with his job on the Cleveland docks and after some effort got another. He was discontented with that, and sought a better, and so on, pursued by the spirit of discontent, he went from success to success, never satisfied, always ill at ease.

Robert Louis Stevenson, when a boy, was discontented with his achievements in English prose. He was not satisfied with anything that he did. He wrote and rewrote, polished, pruned and purged, until for sheer weariness he gave up and sent the composition to the publishers. It did not satisfy him; he tried to do a better thing. Again the same discontent and again the same resolute painstaking effort to improve.

Napoleon was discontented with his job as lieutenant of artillery. He became general of division and was not satisfied with that. He made himself First Consul, but that seemed a barren honor. He tried the Emperor business and became the great warrior, statesman and lawgiver of Europe.

Abraham Lincoln was discontented with his job as a farm hand. So he went to town and became a grocer's clerk. He didn't like that and tried law. He thought he would be better contented in politics and so became President and showed the world that in useful service to mankind was the truest greatness.

Are you discontented? Yes? Then you are in the way of salvation.

But:

It is only a step from heaven to hell and you must make no mistake or you may find yourself in the way of damnation.

If discontent spurs you to work you are safe. If it only breeds self pity and makes you snarl and grumble, then you are a fool and will go the way to the fool's end.

Which shall it be? Work or snarl, confidence or cowardice, noble acceptance or mean acquiescence?

Lovers of music in St. Louis will have this season an excellent opportunity to prove that they are capable of rising above ragtime. Six concerts by the Theodore Thomas orchestra are announced. Those who heard the Thomas orchestra last season have memories of superb music. They will scarcely fail to hear the orchestra again. If the present season is a success, the Thomas orchestra will be a permanent factor in the St. Louis musical world. Then the ragtime reproach will pass from us forever.

LET THE PEOPLE CHOOSE.

Congressman Champ Clark, who, while hugging his present office is making "goo goo eyes" at the senatorship, proposes that the Democratic candidate for the Senate be chosen by a general primary, the result of which shall determine the action of the Democrats in the state legislature.

The suggestion is excellent and as good for Republicans as for Democrats.

Fortunately Missouri senators have not been elected hitherto by the scandalous methods which have disgraced many other states. Our elections have been honest. But there is no safeguard for the future if elections are to be scrambled for in the legislature.

No state is secure from the senatorial auction whenever several rich and unscrupulous men get the notion that a senatorial toga would be becoming. Intelligent men all over the country are looking to the election of senators by the people as the best remedy for the evil.

The choosing of senatorial candidates by primary election is a step in this direction. It gives the voter of each party a voice in the selecting of their senators. It cuts out the possibility of the legislative auction.

Missouri would do well to take this first step.

STATEHOOD FOR ARIZONA.

At the coming session of Congress, Arizona will ask for admission into the Union as the 46th state.

The territory has a population sufficient for statehood. The growth in the past 30 years has been remarkable. In 1870, the population was only 9658. In 1880 it was 40,440; in 1890, 59,620 and in 1900, 122,931. This is a population larger than Wyoming's and three times as large as Nevada's.

The year 1903 will bring the semi-centennial of the Gadsden purchase, when the southern boundary of Arizona and New Mexico was finally settled. Coincident with the Louisiana Purchase Centennial the event affords a sentimental reason for favorable action.

True, Arizona is persistently Democratic, but the Republican Congress can afford to be generous. Experience proves that in the admission of new states nonpartisanship always pays.

The New York Economist finds that in certain lines manufacturers in St. Louis could do 50, 60 or 100 per cent more than they are doing now if they had the facilities. The amount of goods consumed in the territory tributary to St. Louis, it asserts, has fully doubled within three or four years.

St. Louis Plans for a World's Fair.

From the New York World.

A perspective view of the Sunken Garden, Grand Lagoon and Grand Boulevard as they will be flanked by the principal buildings of the St. Louis World's Fair of 1903 has been issued. The spectator is supposed to stand near the principal or Monumental entrance. On the left the array of buildings will begin with the larger Liberal Arts structure, on the right with the Mines and Metallurgy building, each being surmounted by a 400-foot tower. The other splendid buildings will stretch back and away, the Art Palace with its great dome crossing and closing the immediate boulevard perspective.

The effect of the arrangement thus indicated will be to so draw the Fair structures together that they will occupy the least scattering space consistent with artistic appearances and the vast dimensions of the buildings. So there will be solved one of the most pressing of exposition problems. Visitors will not be obliged to make long-distance journeys over the grounds to pass from department to department. At the same time, ground room will be saved in ample measure for the scenic effects and romantic surroundings greatly desirable as the setting of the Exhibition proper. The early and satisfactory adjustment of plans to these conditions is not the least of the promises that St. Louis is to produce not only a World's Fair but a world's wonder.

A NEWSPAPER'S PALACE.

In the October Era, Marie Robinson Wright, the accomplished traveler, who knows her south America better than most Americans know their principal cities, contributes an interesting article entitled "The Palace of La Prensa." This palace is the fairyland of newspaperdom. Mrs. Wright writes:

The free medical and legal consulting rooms and a free laboratory on the main floor are furnished and fitted up on a scale of elegance, palatial in every detail. Five physicians are regularly employed by La Prensa, to look after the poor sick of the city. The average consultations amount to nearly five thousand per month. In the free legal department, the poor people are at liberty to make known their needs. In this department also there are five lawyers employed yearly by this generous newspaper. Their offices are reached from a private entrance.

On the second floor are located the editorial rooms, the archives of the institution, and the rooms for recreation and amusement, as well as a large reading room for the use of the reporters.

There is also a splendid library, containing a collection of useful and valuable books—a billiard room, a sala for fencing, all furnished in a magnificent style. The smoking-room upholstered in smoke-colored velvet and finished in hard wood is a popular rendezvous when leisure permits such indulgences.

The editorial rooms have everything for the comfort and convenience of the busy men who prepare the news of the day. The offices of the chief editors are most luxurious, and in connection with them, each editor has a private drawing room, exquisitely furnished with costly tapestries, rich Smyrna rugs, rare pictures, curios and inlaid floors. The entire third story is set aside as an apartment for the entertainment of distinguished foreign visitors who come to the Capital. These strangers are not permitted to live in the hotels, but are invited as the guests of La Prensa. Here they are treated with royal hospitality.

DROSKIES IN ST. PETERSBURG.

There are 37,000 droskies registered at police headquarters in St. Petersburg this summer, or one to about every 33 inhabitants, and during the winter season, when the wheeled vehicles are changed for sledges of similar pattern, large numbers of people come in from the country with horses to earn a little extra money.

The ishvoshtniks lead a nomadic life in the streets of the capital. As in other cities, certain locations are indicated where they may stand and wait for patronage, and when they are not engaged they return to these stations to eat and sleep and remain there day and night continuously. Regardless of the weather, the horse may not see the inside of a stable nor his driver the inside of a house for weeks at a time. Like the Bedouins of Arabia, they carry hay and oats constantly with them, and during the intervals of employment feed their horses by means of nosebags. Near every hackstand is a shop where they can buy chopped hay and oats for their horses and coffee, soup, tea and other rations for themselves. There are also many peddlers wandering about the streets, from whom food and tea may be purchased. The animals are groomed as they are fed, when they are not waiting for fares, and their drivers are always rubbing and petting them. While waiting in front of a house or a shop the ishvoshtnik generally gives his horse a good rubbing down and talks to him as if he were a human being. He calls him "my brother," "my little father," "my sweetheart," "my little white pigeon," and has other affectionate phrases and terms of endearment which the animal seems to understand.

A Jasper County man's wife suddenly dropped dead from heart failure. The next morning his most valuable horse ran away, throwing its owner out of the buggy with such force as to break several ribs, and injuring itself so that it had to be shot. And in the evening his daughter fell and broke her arm.

During his wife's absence at the Pan-American, a Koshkonong man tended the farm, took care of eight small children and put up 400 cans of peaches.

PEOPLE TALKED ABOUT.

R. L. Stevenson's Nightmare.

Stevenson dreamed the Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde scenes in considerable detail, including the circumstance of the transforming powers, and so vivid was the impression that he wrote the story off at a red heat just as it had presented itself to him in his sleep. "In the small hours of one morning," says Mrs. Stevenson, "I was awakened by cries of horror from Louis. Thinking he had a nightmare I awakened him. He said angrily, 'Why did you awake me? I was dreaming a fine bogey tale.' I had awakened him at the first transformation scene." Mr. Osbourne writes: 'I don't believe that there was ever such a literary feat as the writing of 'Dr. Jekyl.' I remember the first reading of it as though it were yesterday. Louis came downstairs in a fever, read nearly half the book aloud, and then, while we were still gasping, he was away again and busy writing. I doubt if the first draft took so long as three days."

The King of the Belgians.

King Leopold reecntly delivered himself of a bon mot. Chatting after a public reception with one of his families the King asked jocularly what sort of impression he made on the Socialists. "One of the leaders observed to me," was the reply, "that if you had not been King of the Belgians you might have been President of the Belgian Republic." "Thanks, very much," said the King, with a laugh; "but tell me, you, who are a doctor, how would you like to be made a 'vet?'"

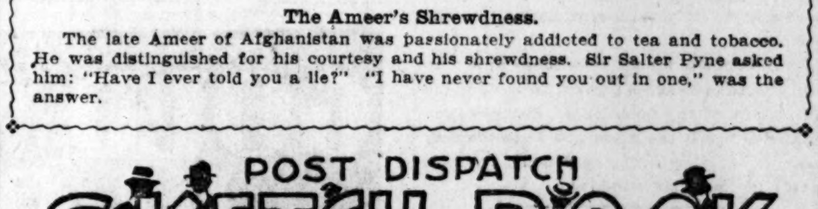
The late Ameer of Afghanistan was passionately addicted to tea and tobacco. He was distinguished for his courtesy and his shrewdness. Sir Salter Pyne asked him: "Have I ever told you a lie?" "I have never found you out in one," was the answer.



HE WANTED FISH.

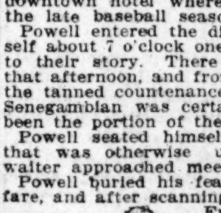
Pitcher Jack Powell of the Cardinals is known to his intimate associates as a man of few words. When he has anything to say he believes in saying it quickly, briefly and forcibly.

This trait in the well-known twirler's character was illustrated in unique fashion, his friends say, during a conversation he indulged in with a colored waiter at a downtown hotel where he resided during the late baseball season.

Powell entered the dining room by himself about 7 o'clock one evening, according to their story. There had been a game that afternoon, and from the expression on the tanned countenance of the pitcher the Senegambian was certain that defeat had been the portion of the Donovanites.

Powell seated himself at a small table that was otherwise unoccupied and the waiter approached meekly.

Powell buried his features in the bill of fare, and after scanning the assortment of French dishes, entrees and soups and steaks a la "this" and "that," grunted:



"A bottle of 'Bud' and some shade."

The Senegambian was startled, but it was not his place to ask questions. He retired to order the beer and meditate upon what the curve-dispenser meant by the remainder of the order.

Presently he returned, smiling, and set a bottle of local brew in front of the waiting boiler maker.

Then, stepping gently to the side of the room, he lowered one of the window shades.

Powell drank some of the beer, and it appeared to the waiter that the more he imbibed the less pleasant became the expression that stole over his face.

"Say, you!" shouted Powell, after waiting about ten minutes, "what's the matter with that shade?"

The negro stepped nervously toward the table and then backward again with a forced smile.

"Ah'll fix that in a minute, Mistah Powell," he murmured.

He hurried over to the side of the dining room and lowered all the other shades on that side of the apartment.

Then he hopped around, wondering what sort of a fate was in store for him if there was still too much light and too little beer for the hungry Cardinal.

He was not kept long in suspense, however.

Powell turned around with a scowl and commanded the waiter to come to his side. His face bubbled over with expression.

Picking up the menu card, he pointed to it with two of the fingers that aided in hundreds of strikeouts, and exclaimed in tones more bitter than any he ever directed at an umpire:

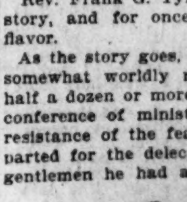
"Why don't you wake up, you untutored son of Africa (or words to that effect) and bring me what I want! There's what I want, right there on the score card! Shade! You understand? Shade! S-H-A-D, shade!"

And the cooks at the hotel still smile when asked about that fish order.

A MELON OF MERIT.

Rev. Frank G. Tyrrell has a watermelon story, and for once has no down south flavor.

As the story goes, a certain layman of a somewhat worldly mind once entertained half a dozen or more of the delegates to a conference of ministers. As the piece de resistance of the feast which he had preparted for the delectation of the reverend gentlemen he had a watermelon. It was not an ordinary watermelon, and he had raised it in his garden at a cost of much labor and possibly some money.



The melon had been plugged and into the cavity the host had poured a quart of champagne. Then he packed it in ice in the ice box to "frappe."

As the hour for the feast approached he began to repent. Had he gone too far? Would the gentlemen of the holy cloth rebel at the champagned watermelon? It was a ticklish question and he consulted his next friend in some trepidation.

"I don't think they will object," said that worthy. "Fact is, I don't think they will know what it is. Let it go."

And they did, and the watermelon was served. There were no conscious glances to betray the fact that the ministers detected aught new in the melon's flavor. In fact they ate in a decidedly abstracted manner.

The host kicked his friend under the table.

"Didn't even notice it, did they?" he whispered. "Great joke, eh!"

"Didn't notice it? Well, you look at what they're doing and you'll change your mind."

He looked. Every minister around the board as he found an opportunity, was slipping the seeds of the melon into his vest pocket.

Antitoxin Queries.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Dr. Boogher says that serum for the manufacture of antitoxin was drawn from the poorhouse horse as late as two days before it died. How was it the doctors did not know till then that this animal was diseased? Is it not because the treatment to obtain serum puts horses or other beasts into such a poor condition that it is hard to tell whether they are diseased or not? In fact, is not the result of the treatment to make them susceptible to tetanus or other diseases? Is not the whole business equivalent to playing with fire?

Two Brave Women

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

As a child of the sovereign people of these United States, I have been taught to consider all officers as my servants, whether they compose the judiciary body, or the executive branches of government. I wish to commend in this letter the action of Miss Haley and Miss Goggin of Chicago, for bringing mandamus proceedings to compel the state board of equalization to tax the franchise corporations who were evading taxation. The lower court, as well as the supreme court, decided against the corporations, declaring that "the court may compel said board to perform its duty by assessing said property."

The people of this state, as well as of all the states, can not be too appreciative of this victory for justice won for them by two women; who have done for them what their great Mayor Harrison dared not do. The decision of the supreme court of Illinois is to be used by Mayor Johnson of Cleveland as a precedent in his fight for justice in Ohio. Might it not be used in St. Louis. Let a subscription be raised for these two women, by all means; they have driven the thin end of the wedge—let the men see to the rest.

If W. A. S. has followed the airship news he has found that Krebs and Renard solved this problem in 1888 by circling three times over Paris. It is safe to venture that the automobile of the air is now in a form in which could be shown successfully at the World's Fair.

In the condition of this art now there is no doubt that a service of passengers could be started from the top of the Union Trust building to the Fair and return, even on windy days. A. F. GODEFROY.

Spitting on Sidewalks.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Referring to a prominent doctor's article in your noted paper, headed, "Woman's Long Skirts Breed Diseases." Undoubtedly the doctor is right, and therefore states that one or the other evil must be prohibited, meaning, I suppose, the spitting on the sidewalk or the wearing of long skirts. Cleanliness is next to godliness. The doctor refers to the Starkloff bill. It is a good one and should pass. Why not pass a bill or why do not our city officials take steps prohibiting the spitting on the sidewalk? Must fashion give way to impoliteness and vice? No, remove the cause and the effect will disappear. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. CITIZEN.

Taxation of Railroads.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The Post-Dispatch of yesterday published the following, taken from a speech delivered at Joplin recently:

"Some years ago during the short space of one Democratic administration the assessments of the railroads of Missouri were reduced from some $52,000,000 to about $22,000,000, a decrease of $30,000,000 in the short space of four years."

No such reduction as this, or of any amount whatever, occurred during the 14 years I was a member of the State Board of Equalization, and from personal observation and the records of the state board since that time no reduction whatever has been made, then or at any other time. On the contrary, the values of the mileage, rolling stock and other property of the railroads of this state have been gradually increased by the state board as the physical condition and business of the roads improved and increased each year since 1872 when the Democratic party came into control of the state politically.

The railroads of Missouri have been and are taxed from 15 to 20 per cent higher than the same and like roads are taxed in the adjoining states of Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Nebraska, Arkansas and Texas and up to within 50 to 60 per cent of their values; while farm lands, live stock and other personal property of the farmers in Missouri are taxed from 25 to 33 1-3 per cent of their values. Real or Fictitious "Equality."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In criticising the action of President Roosevelt some have asked, "would he be willing to have his daughter marry a negro?" as though they thought his action in inviting Prof. Washington to dine with him would be inconsistent otherwise.

The trouble with such critics is that they make the superiority of the white race over the blacks depend, not on the fact that the majority of the whites do excel the blacks in intelligence, ability and morality and are therefore superior, but their idea appears to be that the color of the skin makes, or at least proves, the superiority.

It is safe to presume that President Roosevelt, as well as any other intelligent northern gentleman, would regard the amalgamation of the two races, or any intermarriage between them, as calamitous and dreadful; and it is equally safe to presume that they would regard a marriage alliance with the Asiatic or Malay race as just as undesirable, and such opinion is not at all inconsistent with the opinion that a gentleman of one race may meet a gentleman of another race and treat him as such, and if occasion makes it proper, eat with him.

Had the President invited some ignorant, half-drunken white ward heeler to dine with him, such critics as "Philo" would not regard it as such an offense against propriety as when he invited this cultivated gentleman who happens to have black skin.

That the amalgamation of the races would be "consequent" upon recognizing the fact of equality where equality exists, or even in recognizing the superiority of the black man over the white man where such superiority exists as to ability, intelligence and morality, is ridiculous in the extreme.

"Philo" and his colleagues should revise their basis of "equality," not making it depend upon the color of the skin.

BODY FOUND IN A BARREL

Possible Victim of Italian Vendetta.

THE HEAD ALMOST SEVERED

THE MAN WAS AN ITALIAN LABORER FROM DES MOINES.

Appearance of the Body Found on Chicago Street and Money on the Person Indicate Plot.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—The body of a man whose head had almost been severed from his body was discovered in a flour barrel on a strip of prairie near Rice street and Western avenue today. The victim's feet were securely bound in a gunny sack and the body doubled, from which it was apparent that his slayer or slayers had experienced difficulty in forcing the body into the receptacle. Beside the wound in the neck there was a deep gash on the man's face.

The man is believed to be Antonio Napali, who, with 25 other Italian laborers, reached Chicago last night from Iowa Center, Io.

The address "Salvador and Luigi M. Nigro, 402½ Clark street," was found on a letter in the dead man's coat. On this firm's books was found the name "Antonio Napali," and his address was given as "Box 453, Livermore, Io." The police description of the man is as follows:

From 25 to 30 years old, dark hair and complexion, red mustache, clay worsted cutaway coat, celluloid collar, purple tie, dark brown shoes, no hat.

Two workmen discovered the body. They were attracted by the stench which came from a barrel lying on its side. They investigated and then notified the police, who advanced the opinion that the man had been murdered last night.

Chief of Police O'Neill said that the work indicated more than mere robbery had been intended, and suggested that the man has been the victim of some vendetta, as a dollar was found on the body.

Later, Rocco Cantre, a saloon keeper, identified the body as that of Antonio Napoli, whom he had not seen since Napoli left Chicago a year ago.

The place where the barrel was found has been used for years as a dumping ground. Twelve years ago it furnished another murder mystery which has never been cleared up. The victim of this old crime was Amelia Olson, a domestic.

PROTEST AGAINST QUARRY.

Residents of North Twenty-Second Street Petition Board of Improvements.

Residents of North Twenty-second street, near Angelica street, filed a written complaint Tuesday with the Board of Public Improvements against a quarry operated in the neighborhood.

The complainants say that the quarry has always been a nuisance, but that it has become an intolerable evil since the large engine by which it is operated was removed from the north to the south side of the quarry.

"The blasting shakes our houses, and the dirt flies for more than a block," the petition states. "The wagons destroy the sidewalk and the curbing. The quarry is only 100 feet distant from the nearest house."

The signers are: G. H. Waechter, Joseph Meyer, Fred Mussenmeyer, Louis Boehmer, Caroline Niemeier, Joseph Schneidermeyer, Carl Wepmeyer, Mrs. K. Schroeder and Mrs. A. Mannigel.

The complaint was referred to Street Commissioner Varrelman for investigation.

After Baby Comes.

In the days following the baby's birth there is often a long up-hill struggle to recover strength, and the nurse busies herself in the preparation of jellies and broths for the invalid.

When Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is used as a preparative for motherhood the baby's advent is practically painless, there is abundant strength to nurse and nourish the child, and a rapid recovery from the shock and strain inseparable from maternity.

"I was pleased that Dr. Pierce answered my letter," writes Mrs. C. W. Young, of 21 South Regent Street (Lee Park), Wilkesbarre, Penna. "When I had those mishaps I began to think I would never have children. My back used to almost break and I would get sick at my stomach and have such headaches I did not know what to do; they used to set me nearly crazy, and I used to dread to get up, I felt so bad; then I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. When baby was expected I took it all the time I was that way. I felt fine all the time, and I never get those dizzy spells now. I hardly ever have a nervous headache any more. I have a perfect romp of a boy; he is the light of our home. I am now twenty years old and my baby is almost eight months old. I now feel well, and weigh 180 pounds, and the baby 23¼ pounds. We feel very grateful for the good your medicine did for us. We are both healthy, thanks to Dr. Pierce's medicine."

BEER INSPECTION CASES IRREGULAR

APPEALS COURT MAKES DECISION INVALIDATING ABOUT 7000.

BROEDER'S CASE IS REMANDED

Information Is Defective Because It Does Not State That Beer Was Never Inspected.

An opinion was handed down Tuesday morning by Presiding Judge Bland of the St. Louis Court of Appeals invalidating about 7000 cases brought by the state against saloonkeepers under the beer inspection law, passed in May, 1899.

The opinion is in a case from Montgomery County in which Henry Broeder is defendant.

He is charged with having sold a barrel of beer in May, 1900, which did not have on it the certificate of the state beer inspector showing that it had been properly inspected.

The information against Broeder intimates, says Judge Bland, that the barrel had never been inspected at all. This, however, he argues, cannot be assumed.

"An information," says his opinion, "must bring the accused directly within the terms of the offense as described in the statute and should leave nothing for conjecture."

The information in Broeder's case is held not to do this and the action of the Montgomery Circuit Court in rendering a judgment against Broeder is reversed and the case is remanded with permission to the prosecuting attorney of the county to alter the information.

There are, it is said, 7000 other cases in the state under the beer inspection law in which the informations are identical with the one passed upon by Judge Bland.

Judge Goode of the Court of Appeals handed down an opinion Tuesday morning sustaining the Barry County Circuit Court in ousting from office L. W. Badger, who was charged with usurping the office of city treasurer of Monett.

In May last Badger refused to turn over the funds and records of the treasury to James Johnston, who had been appointed by Mayor J. S. Farrow of Monett in accordance with the ordinances of the city.

The prosecuting attorney of Barry County instituted proceedings against Badger to oust him, and the Circuit Court decided against him.

He appealed to the Court of Appeals, contending that there had been no evidence to show that Farrow was mayor when he appointed Johnston and that the approval of the City Council of the appointment did not bear the signature of the city clerk.

Judge Goode declares that Badger's behavior in this affair deserves severe condemnation and some punishment.

"It is no slight matter,' he says, "for an incumbent of an office to unlawfully and without color of right refuse to turn over to his duly chosen successor. Such conduct is a flagrant defiance of the law and disregard of the public will."

Badger, he says finally, may consider himself fortnuate that the trial court did not fine him, as it might properly have done.

In the case of Mary E. Price against the St. Louis Police Relief Association, brought to collect the insurance on the life of the late Charles W. Price, the court sustained the St. Louis Circuit Court in its decision against Mrs. Price.

The opinion in the case holds that Price as a retired policeman, drawing a pension, was not entitled to membership in the association. Its by-laws provide that only members of the police force can belong to it.

Decision was handed down in other cases as follows:

Creve Couer Lake Ice Co. against Max Temm, city; affirmed.

Northwestern Savings Bank against International Bank of St. Louis, city; affirmed.

School District No. 4, etc., against P. R. Smith, etc., Newton County; affirmed.

St. Louis, Iron Mountain & Southern Railway Co. against Jefferson Stone Quarry et al., city; affirmed.

"BROTHER BILL" THE FAILURE

A Little Book Filled With Plain Talk on the Why and Wherefore.

One man through life a failure went,
And one climbed up the hill.
The one was John, the diligent,
The other, Brother Bill.

"Some men succeed," said a wise man, "for the same reason that others are sent to the penitentiary—because they deserve it."

Some men are ingenious and entertaining because they make a studied effort to please.

One of the most inviting little books that has been published recently is entitled "The Ill-Fortune of Brother Bill," published in St. Louis.

It is not so bulky as "The Crisis" nor so pretentious as "Kim," Rudyard Kipling's latest, but it is by a St. Louis author, who prefers to write anonymously, and contains many striking passages.

"The value of plain talk cannot be overestimated,' said the author of "Richard Carvel," another St. Louis book, and "The Ill-Fortune of Brother Bill" is filled to the brim with plain talk. And it is talk of the kind that counts.

"People succeed because they deserve to succeed, and they fail because they deserve to fail." This is the text of this little book. In another place the author says:

"Most of the people who fail, fail because they are lazy. There are a great many more failures because of a lack of energy than because of a lack of ability.

"A business man, or a banker, or a railroad builder, or a milliner, or a novelist succeeds because he does something that people want done.

"People are willing to pay for the things they want. They are willing to pay for good work in any line.

"The man who gives them good work, in the way they want it, will succeed. The man who does not, will fail; and that is absolutely all there is about it.

"There is no luck about it. It is just the plainest kind of common sense.

"Do you suppose Paderewski plays the piano as he does simply because he is lucky?

"Do you believe you are a more able piano player than Paderewski, and that it 'just happens' that he is famous and you are not? Not at all.

"It is good, earnest, honest, hard work—work in the right direction—work with brains—but everlastingly, persistently and continuously—work.

"Let a man once get the idea that he is either a genius or a thing of beauty and you can cross him right off the map. He is never going to succeed. He is 'Brother Bill,' all right, and he is going to be left at the post."

"The Ill-Fortune of Brother Bill" was written for the McCarthy-Evans Tailoring Co.

M'QUADE GIVEN THREE YEARS.

Michael McQuade was convicted of murder in the second degree and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary in Judge Ferriss' division of the Criminal Court Monday afternoon.

He was charged with killing Timothy Farrell of 1126 North Jefferson avenue with a baseball bat May 5, last.

They quarreled over a baseball game.

WOMAN PURSUED PURSE THIEF.

Miss Kavanaugh Met Detective and He Arrested a Negro.

William Burkhead, a negro porter in a saloon at Twenty-third and Olive streets, is under arrest on charges that he was connected with the disappearance of a purse belonging to Miss Lena Kavanaugh of 3631 Lee avenue.

Miss Kavanaugh sat at the window in the reception room of St. John's Hospital, Twenty-third and Locust streets, and laid her purse on the window sill.

It contained $2.40.

When she next looked for the pocketbook it was not where she had placed it. The only person in sight was a negro, who was running away with the purse in his hand.

Miss Kavanaugh pursued the thief as far as Olive street, where she notified Detective Howard, who arrested Burkhead. She identified Burkhead as the negro whom she had seen running away with her purse.

STREET CAR HURT TWO MORE

Charles Hagemsieker and John Higgins, Drivers, Were the Victims.

Two persons were victims of street cars Monday, receiving injuries in accidents on the Transit and Suburban tracks Monday.

The injured men were wagon drivers, and are at the City Hospital.

The wagon driven by Charles Hagemsieker of 801 Wash street was upset by a Bellefontaine car, and both legs of the driver were broken.

John Higgins, aged 55 years, was thrown from his wagon at Sixteenth and Wash streets in a collision with a Suburban car and his skull was fractured.

QUICK MAILS TO LONDON.

Kronz Prinz Wilhelm Delivered Them One Day Ahead of Time.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Business men were surprised by the delivery of mails that left New York on Tuesday last. The delivery was at least a day in advance of the usual time. Often it is Wednesday before they are delivered.

This remarkable record is due to the rapid passage of the Kron Prinz Wilhelm, which arrived at Plymouth at 38 minutes past midnight on Sunday, thus covering the 2978 miles in five days, eight hours and 18 minutes.

This is only about an hour more than the fastest passage ever recorded, which was accomplished by the Deutschland.

TO FIGHT STRIKE INJUNCTIONS.

Chicago Labor Unions Will Raise Vast Sinking Fund to Protect Themselves.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Labor's scheme for an organization to fight the injunctions of judges and courts against strikers has been realized by the founding of the Chicago Anti-Injunction League at a special meeting of the officials of the Chicago Federation of Labor last night.

Provision for starting a vast sinking fund to wage legal battle in court against the imprisonment of any strikers or pickets under the injunction processes is a notable feature of the new body.

Alleged abuses which are to be fought with special vigor and persistency are the practices by which the attorneys of industrial combinations are declared to have "railroaded" strikers and strike sympathizers to jail on injunction proceedings. Legal fights by the best legal talent obtainable will be made for the liberty of each striker or picket as often as any are cited before a judge for alleged violation or "contempt" of an injunctional order.

Frequent use of the writ of habeas corpus is threatened, and in case that the alleged arbitrariness of the judges is not voluntarily restricted or compelled by arbitration, the anti-injunction league will not hesitate to ask for the impeachment of members of the judiciary on charges of oppression of the citizens and malfeasance in office.

FALLING HAIR AND DANDRUFF
SPEEDILY CURED AT WOODBURY'S

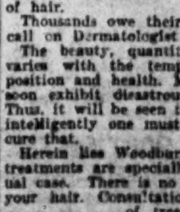
Soft, glossy, abundant hair is a treasure beyond price.

It is not till the hair begins to fade and fall out that we realize how we love a magnificent head of hair.

Thousands owe their beautiful hair to a timely call on Dermatologist Woodbury.

The beauty, quantity and quality of the hair varies with the temperament, hereditary predisposition and health. Mental troubles, for instance, soon exhibit disastrous consequences to the hair. Thus, it will be seen to treat affections of the hair intelligently one must go back to the cause and cure that.

Herein lies Woodbury's marvelous success. The treatments are specially prepared for each individual case. There is no excuse to mourn the loss of your hair. Consultation is free and the expense of treatment is trifling compared with the almost absolute certainty of successful results.



Those unable to call at the office may write for book and full information, which will be sent free, sealed. Address John H. Woodbury D. I., Mermod-Jaccard building, St. Louis.

scribe the best, and as I know and have proven that there is nothing in Materia Medica which equals Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in severe cases of female disorders, I unhesitatingly prescribe it, and have never yet been sorry. I know of nothing better for ovarian troubles and for falling of the womb or ulcerations; it absolutely restores the affected parts to their normal condition quicker and better than anything else. I have known it to cure barrenness in women, who to-day are happy mothers of children, and while the medical profession looks down upon 'patents,' I have learned, instead, to look-up to the healing potion, by whatever name it be known. If my fellow physicians dared tell the truth, hundreds of them would voice my sentiments."—DR. WANATA, Lansing, Mich.

Negotiations of Wallace. Burkett and Heidrick to Play With National for Less Than Johnson Offered Show They Are Sceptical.

Rhoderick Wallace, offered $6000 to play with the St. Louis American League team—if there is to be such an organization—is dickering with Manager Donovan of the St. Louis National League team to play at $5000 a year.

Jesse Burkett, offered $5000 a year to fill the left field position for the American League team, will play with the National League club if he can get the same salary from President Robison.

Emmett Heidrick, offered $4000 to play with McAleer's apparently mythical organization, will play with Donovan if the salary offered him is anything like that proposed by the American League.

According to an agreement made at the West End Hotel about three weeks ago, when all the deserting members of the Cardinal team were in St. Louis, Wallace, Burkett and Heidrick agreed to play with the St. Louis American League team for the salaries named here, with the proviso that, if the National League or any other club management of the American League offered more money, they were at liberty to sign a contract with the other bidder.

At the conference, during which this arrangement was perfected, were McAleer, slated for the management of the St. Louis American League team; Jesse Burkett, Emmett Heidrick and two well-known St. Louis bookmakers, now on their way to California.

The arrangement was verbal.

Later, Burkett, acting for the other players in their absence, concluded definite arrangements in accordance with the agreement reached at the preliminary conference.

The announcement that the three players principally concerned are negotiating with Donovan at Pittsburg for berths in the National League at salaries which will be lower than those offered by the American League, indicates that they have good information that there will be no American League team in St. Louis next year.

The fact that their contract expressly stipulates that they shall not sign with any club at a lower salary leads to this conclusion.

Reports from Pittsburg state that Donovan expects to conclude arrangements with the players today. If that is done, the American League team of St. Louis will be exploded.

According to present indications, including the balking of the Milwaukee Club, the inability of the Johnson organization to secure local finanial backing up to the present time and the attitude of the deserting players, the probabilities are against the appearance of an American League club in St. Louis.

It is stated upon reliable information that the players themselves believed that the American League was not sincere in its offers and that the reason the agreement was withheld so long was because they did not think Johnson and his coadjutors would ever put the figures offered in writing.

When the contracts were submitted to Burkett in print he at once signed, acting under the instructions of his comrades.

Players are Sceptical Of American Team.

Later developments have induced the men to believe that the American League club will not materialize and the present negotiations with Donovan are the result.

Donovan appears to have acted the "foxy" part for the Robisons.

Being in touch with Burkett all through the period when the latter was dickering with the American, he was probably informed as to its progress.

He was prepared to offer a big figure for the St. Louis players, but $15,000 was too rich for the blood of the Robisons.

Now that the opportunity is afforded, probably an expected one, he is making arrangements to get them back at a smaller amount than he would have been compelled to pay if he had tried to outbid the American.

The arrangements that Donovan can make will, it is reported, be conditional.

It is said that another clause of the contract between the American League and the players is to the effect that the St. Louis men are to play with the American League only on condition that there is a St. Louis team.

CAUGHT MISSOURI POSTMASTER

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 5.—Kit C. Dodson, an eastern Washington school teacher, has been arrested charged with embezzling about $400 while postmaster at Fiske, Mo. He was apprehended on a warrant sworn out by the United States attorney's office here. He will be held at Walla Walla until the Missouri officers arrive to identify him. The alleged crime was committed in February, 1900.

FORBES WINS FIGHT WITH ABE ATTELL

California Boy, However, Shows He Is a Fighter as Well as a Boxer.

Abe Attell, the clever California pugilist, showed that he is a fighter as well as a boxer in his fight with Harry Forbes before a good crowd at the West End Coliseum last night. Referee George Siler declared Forbes the winner after 15 rounds of fighting, but the battle was fast and furious, with Attell showing excellently.

Though apparently a little bit under Forbes' weight Attell fought back at the Chicago man from start to finish and in the earlier part of the fray had the better of it.

In the second round he slammed some vicious punches into his opponent and for a time it appeared that Forbes' head was rocking. In the third, Forbes recovered and from then on it was Forbes' battle, though in several of the rounds honors were even.

Attell's pluck is shown by the stand he made after having been unintentionally fouled by Forbes in the thirteenth round. Forbes had the fight won at the time and was clearly the better man. Attell, however, would have made a stronger finish but for the accident.

Attell was in fair shape at the time, notwithstanding he had been given a punching in the later rounds. He was fighting back hard, when he went down to the floor on one knee. Forbes had struck him low.

Limping, after he rose to his feet claiming foul, he still stuck it out, though apparently suffering. He fought out the fight, but his effectiveness was gone.

That Attell was fouled the marks on his person testify. After the battle Dr. H. L. Staudinger of 304 South Jefferson avenue was called and, after examination, stated the blow must have been excruciatingly painful, but its effects would not be serious.

It practically incapacitated Attell from fighting. The foul was evidently not intentional. Attell stated after the fight that he did not believe Forbes hit him low deliberately.

Forbes Acts for Brother.

Harry Forbes was acting as an eleventh hour substitute for his brother Clarence, who was not in condition for a fight. That Clarence could have put up a better fight is possible, but the affair lost nothing by the change. Harry Forbes was also stated to be a little out of condition and in the earlier rounds this apparently showed. Later he came strong, which he could hardly have done after the punching of the second round had he not been up to a fight.

Both men took turns at the aggressive. Attell switched tactics completely, and instead of standing away and trying for a victory on points he mixed up with his opponent whenever the latter was willing.

He landed some hard blows and showed that he can punch on occasion. Forbes seemed to have more steam, however, and his swings were very vicious looking. Both men were clever at blocking. If they had not been the fight would never have gone the limit. As it was, the audience was expecting a knockout termination.

The first round served to show that the fight would be fast and furious. Both men went at it hammer and tongs, with a shade in Attell's favor. In the second Attell got all the better of several rallies and toward the close of it Forbes went down for the count and was helped by the gong shortly after.

Forbes' recovery was remarkable in the next three rounds, although the battle waged with unceasing fierceness.

Seventh Forbes' Round.

The seventh was all Forbes. Most of his play was for his opponent's head, where he landed repeatedly, notwithstanding Attell's cleverness. He varied the proceedings with an occasional punch to the body.

The tenth was a furious round, Forbes getting to his opponent many times and making it the banner period of the battle. Still he could not put his man out, and Attell came back strong in the next two rounds.

After the thirteenth it was all Forbes. Even without the low blow that Forbes struck, Attell had about shot his bolt, and in the minds of the spectators it was Forbes' fight easy.

Kid Carric and Will Carey of Chicago fought an eight-round draw that pleased the crowd.

Attell has another fight scheduled for Nov. 25 with George Dixon, the same conditions as prevailed in their previous fight to hold good. Dixon feels that he was not treated right by Referee Siler when he last met Attell and thinks he could beat Attell under a different referee. The matter was explained to Siler, and he suggested letting the men battle under another referee, if it would satisfy Dixon. The arrangement was accordingly made, and Haughton is looking for some good man to decide the battle.

Turf Notes.

Miss Bennett, a chestnut filly, three years old, by Russell-Memoria, and owned by the popular turfman, Geo. C. Bennett, died on Saturday at Montgomery Park, Memphis. She was buried within the track enclosure and is the only thoroughbred interred there.

Miss Bennett was one of the fastest sprinters in the West, and as late as Sept. 20 ran six and one-half furlongs in only a quarter of a second behind the record for the United States. She was a valuable mare, and Mr. Bennett has suffered a severe loss in her demise.

The opening handicap of the racing season at San Francisco on Saturday was won by Hagerdon at odds of 3 to 1. The distance was a mile, and the time recorded was 1:40¼. The race was for a purse of $1500.

The Lakeside bookmakers got a body blow on Saturday by the unexpected victory of Henry of Frantsmar. He opened at 30 to 1 and was played down to 8 principally by pikers. It was estimated that the ring paid out $10,000 on account of Henry's victory.

Delmar and the Fair Grounds distributed over $425,000 to owners of race horses the past season. There were eighty days' racing at the Fair Grounds and seventy-six at Delmar. Nearly all the important stakes were run at the Fair Grounds

Jockey Willie Dale heads the list of winning jockeys for the last season with 130 firsts to his credit Frank O'Neill is second with 123, and Tommy O'Brien third with 117.

Messrs. Fizer & Co. were by far the largest winners at the Delmar meeting, having won purses aggregating in value $20,299. J. K. Hughes, J. S. Bratton and T. H. Stevens were next in order as named, but their combined winnings fell just $16 short of Fizer & Co.'s winnings.

Jockey Fauntleroy, who has been riding at St. Louis all summer, was suspended by Starter Holtman for a wek at San Francisco on Monday. At the same time, Jockeys Vititoe and Hoar were fined by the same official $25 for misbehavior at the post.

Three horses that have recently been running in St. Louis won their respective races on Monday at Louisville: Lillian M., Tremar and Louis Wagner.

Winnie O'Connor, the famous New York rider, won his first mount in a race at Oakland on Monday. Impromptu, which won the first race, was bid up $400 by P. Sheridan, but he was retained by his owner, Frank Doss.

WHY NOT HAVE PRIZEFIGHTS WITH BRICKS CONCEALED IN THE GLOVES?

He Says They Used to Have Those Kind o' Bouts in Rome Way Years Ago.

I went to see that prize fight last night. The Sport said my education was limited and I had better get a few pointers. I was going out there at first to see a battle royal. I wanted to find out how it was different from a football game. I missed out, but the scrap they put on was good, so I didn't make no holler.

They was alot of nice people there. Beside myself there was Jerry Hunt, Jim Cronin, Mal Doyle and other distinguished people. It's funny, but there's more nice people go to prize fights than go to horse shows. They do bar Chinamen at prize fights.

Say, I wish that Belleville boy could have been out there. I just want to show him what would happen if we pulled off that match the elevator boy was trying to fix up. Forbes did the thing to Attell. The way he soaked was a caution. And he got a few of them himself.

PHYSICAL CULTURE BOY

WENT OUT TO STUDY THE GAME.

In the second round somebody hollered: "Put him out, Abie!"

Abie rushed in, but he didn't look where he was going. For a minute he thought he had run into the front yard gate post, but it was only Forbes' glove.

JIM CRONIN WAS THERE.

I guess it hurt though. Abbie didn't take many more liberties after that.

Pretty soon the California boy was hit a little bit lower than where he'd ought to be.

He stuck it out though, and sometimes he made Forbes think how nice it would be to be at home with mother playing checkers. When the last round was over Mr. George Siler, who was there to tell the people what was going on, said it was all right and that Forbes was the real thing in boxers.

Why Not Fight With Bricks?

Prize fighting is all right. Next to a football game its the livest sport they is. They might improve on the game a little bit if they'd stow away a half a brick in each man's glove, but you can't do everything at once they'll come to that in a little while I guess.

They used to do that way back about 25 years ago when Rome was a little town.

The Sport says the ancient Greeks used to box with brass knucks. It made the fights shorter and they could have more of them. The police, too, didn't have time to stop them off because a man went out so quick.

They'll probably come to it over here soon.

JOHNNIE, THE OFFICE BOY.

ST. LOUIS DOGS COME BACK.

Greyhounds Who Ran in Nebraska and Chicago Meets Return.

As all the greyhounds who participated in the Nebraska and Chicago meets have returned, and weather conditions being exactly suited for the sport, the Pastime Coursing Club will bring off one of the best and biggest stakes of the year on Sunday next, Nov. 10.

The club announces an all-age unlimited open to all stakes, with $3 entry and $25 added money, each dog running a course to receive his entry fee.

As puppies have almost matured and are winning the all-age events with great regularity a large number of them will doubtless be in next Sunday's stake, and it is expected that 32 will draw in Friday night.

Returning leashmen from Chicago meet report having had a grand time and are especially pleased that a St. Louis dog won the stake.

The Ellerslie Cross Country Club entertained the members of the St. Louis club in lavish style, giving them a splendid banquet.

The St. Louis representatives had a thoroughly enjoyable time at Chicago.

WANTS NEW KLONDIKE LAWS.

French Consul at Nome Will Discourage Investment Until Passed.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 5.—In his report to the French government on Alaska, A. Schneider, the French consul at Nome, will discourage investment by the capitalists of that country in the north, until better laws have been passed by congress for the protection of vested interests.

At the same time he will report that Nome and the adjacent districts is wonderfully rich in gold, and to the man of means they offer a splendid opportunity of mining ventures. The consul arrived here recently on one of the last boats from Nome and left for Paris to report to his government.

Through Sleepers—St. Louis to Mexico City; via M., K. & T. Ry. "The Katy Flyer" leaves 8:22 p. m. daily. Personally conducted.

MISSOURIAN FROZEN TO DEATH.

While Asleep in a Field He Was Struck By Sunday's Blizzard.

LIBERTY, Mo., Nov. 5.—Near a lonely road some distance away from Liberty, the body of William Thomas, a blacksmith, was found Sunday. The man had been frozen to death. While under the influence of liquor he wandered into a pasture and laid down, and while asleep was struck by the blizzard which passed over this section Sunday.

CROAK'S CHATS WITH THE GOOD DRESSER

The Business Suit.

The popular business suit for this Fall and Winter will be the loose fitting, broad shouldered, swagger cut, of natty and slightly military form. Just the correct cut for you will be the cut that suits you the best. For to be a really good dresser you must have an art tailor whom you can thoroughly depend upon and confidently rely upup his judgment as being the best. Of course you know more about law or doctoring, or stocks and bonds, or some other business or profession; but I don't think you know as much about clothes as we do. We have made a study of clothes, and can tell you just what will be becoming to you; can make you a business suit in the very latest style that will suit your figure and occupation; select a cloth that's becoming to your height, weight and complexion. Yes, this is what is termed "Art Tailoring." It is the kind of tailoring that always distinguishes a Croak dresser as a good dresser.

And all goods marked in plain figures.

GARESCHE SUES HIS COUSIN FOR VIOLIN

He Seeks to Recover Old Family Heirloom.

INSTRUMENT IS STRADIVARIUS

Miss Garesch, the Defendant, Claims It Through Grandfather, Who Bought It 125 Years Ago.

An old violin, an heirloom in the Garesche family for 125 years, is the subject of a suit filed in the St. Louis Circuit Court by Vital W. Garesche against Marie R. Garesche Tuesday.

Vital W. Garesche and Marie R. Garesche are cousins.

Miss Garesche now has possession of the violin, but Mr. Garesche contends that it is his because given to him by his great-grandfather, Alexander J. B. Garsche, who died 60 years ago.

He asks possession of it and $500 damages for its detention by the defendant.

If she has not the violin now in her possession, he asks that she be ordered to pay him $5000, which, e says, is te value of the instrument.

Marie R. Garesche is a grandchild of Alexander J. B. Garesche, the great-grandfather of the plaintiff. Her claim to the violin is based on the closer relationship to the original owner.

She secured the violin from Vital W. Garesche about six years ago to take lessons on it and has had possession of it ever since.

The violin bears the signature of its maker, Amati Stradivarius, on the inside.

Alexander J. B. Garesche, the original owner, bought it about 125 years ago. On it he learned to play with great skill and retained it in his possession until the time of his death, 60 years ago.

Vital W. Garesche says just before the aged man died he gave it to him.

It has always remained in the Gareshe family as an heirloom and many of the descendants of the original owner have learned to play on it.

Famous violinists who have visited St. Louis have played upon it and expressed their admiration for its strong mellow tones.

"I loaned it to an old musician up on Wash street several years ago,' said A. J. B. Garesche, the attorney who filed the suit, "and I thought I would never get it back. He fell in love with it and would not give it up. I finally was compelled to get a policeman and almost force it away from him."

Miss Garesche, the defendant, is a teacher of drawing in the public schools. She lives at 3437 Pine street. The plaintiff is a lawyer with an office in the Wainwright building.

ELOPERS' PLANS SUCCESSFUL

Dr. Gordon and Miss Green Were Married in East St. Louis Without Informing Relatives.

Dr. James M. Gordon of 1923 Coleman street and Miss Maud Greene of 3629 Page boulevard drove over to East St. Louis Tuesday morning and were married by Justice Driscoll.

They admitted that they had eloped. When they procured a license, they gave their addresses merely as St. Louis. Justice Driscoll induced them to tell their street numbers.

They were married at 11 o'clock and returned to St. Louis.

MATE DAVIES' BODY ARRIVES.

He Was Knocked Into the River by a Negro Deck Hand.

The body of David Davies, late of the steamboat India Givens, reached his family in St. Louis Tuesday morning.

The remains were found a short distance below Alton, Ill., Monday by Theodore Inkham.

The body of the negro who knocked Mate Davies overboard, near the mouth of the Missouri river last week, and afterwards drowned himself, was found Sunday near the place were Mate Davies' body was recovered.

The river currents floated the body of the assailant and his victom to the same haven.

The coroner at Alton held an inquest over Mate Davies' remains and returned a verdict saying he had died from causes unknown to the jury.

SUCCESSOR NOT CHOSEN.

Supply Commissioner Has Not Selected Man to Succeed Deputy Martin.

Commissioner of Supplies Fred C. Meier said Tuesday that he had not decided on the appointment of a successor to George H. Martin, deputy commissioner, whose resignation he has accepted.

"I had a talk with Mayor Wells yesterday," said Mr. Meier, "but I have nothing to announce yet, and can't say that my own mind is made up in the matter. I am very anxious to get a good man for the place."

Mr. Martin's resignation stated that he found it necessary to devote all his time to his interests in a copper mining company with which he is identified.

STRONG RALLY IN WHEAT AND CORN

Advance in Corn Started Wheat Up.

NORTHWEST RECEIPTS LARGE

AMOUNT OF EXPORTABLE WHEAT FROM ARGENTINE SMALL.

Foreign Markets Higher and Domestic Cash Demand Better—Mexican Duty on Wheat to Be Removed for One Month.

The strong cash demand for corn, the strength shown by the foreign markets and an improved outside demand were factors which caused a strong rally in grain today. Wheat opened with a gain of ⅛c and corn ½c and advanced rapidly on heavy trading. Great excitement prevailed in the grain pit all day and the offerings were quickly absorbed. The probability of war between France and Turkey helped wheat considerably, adding strength to the foreign market.

Speculation is broadening in corn. The receipts were very light and the farmers practically control the market. The Southwest is buying all the corn offered and the cash demand everywhere shows improvement.

Wheat was helped a great deal today by the report that Mexico would on Nov. 10 remove the duty of 30c per bu until Dec. 31. Chicago reported the sale of 250,000 bu to go to Mexico and other points reported heavy sales. There was a good demand yesterday and today at Chicago, seaboard points and Duluth and big sales were reported.

A cable from Argentine reporting the exportable wheat surplus next year would not be over 16,000,000 bu caused wheat to open ⅝d higher at Liverpool. With a firm spot demand and light speculative offerings, the market was well supported during the session. The strength in American corn yesterday was responsible for an advance of ⅜d. A further gain of ⅜d was made early in the session, but toward noon the market reacted to opening quotations on realizing. The Argentine news caused a strong close. Wheat was up ¼d and corn ⅝d. Paris closed with a gain of ⅛@½c, Antwerp ⅝c, Berlin ⅜c and Budapest 1⅛c.

The foreign advance was due to news from Argentine, saying that some rain had fallen in the provinces of Santa Fe, Cordoba and Entre Rios and that the exportable surplus of Argentine wheat next year would be 16,000,000 bu. Last year the surplus was 31,000,000 bu and two years ago 74,000,000 bu.

When the market closed today wheat was up 1@1⅛c, corn ⅞c and oats ⅜@½c.

Wheat was the feature of the markets today. With the exception of the receipts, all the news was bullish. The rains in Argentine had not been general, and, though the crops were improved, the crop would show a big shortage.

The receipts of wheat at primary points were large, being 1,291,922 bu. The shipments were 491,908 bu. Minneapolis and Duluth received 919 cars and St. Louis got 32,395 bu.

The Russian minister of agriculture now makes the wheat crop of that country 8,000,000 bu larger than last year, rye 112,000,000 bu less and oats 116,000,000 less.

There was a strong pressure to buy wheat all day and the volume of trading was very large.

The clearances were not large, being only 134,000 bu in wheat and flour.

The local market opened with wheat up ⅛c, Dec. selling at 72⅝c and May at 75½@75⅝c. There was a pressure to buy and Dec. went up to 72⅝c, ⅝c above yesterday, and declined to 72⅜@72⅝c. May rose to 75⅞c, a gain of ½c over the close of yesterday. The offerings being light and the demand good, Dec. rose to 73¼c, which was asked at the close, a gain of 1c over yesterday. May advanced rapidly to 76⅝c, 1@1⅛c better than the close of yesterday.

Dec. wheat sales today at 72⅝c, 72⅜@72½c, 72½c, 72½@72⅝c, 72⅝c, 72½@72⅝c, 72⅝c, 72½@72⅝c, 72½c, 72½@72⅝c, 72⅝c, 72⅝@72⅞c, 72⅞c, 72⅜@72⅝c, 72⅞c, 72⅞c, 72⅞@72⅞c, 72⅞c, 72⅞c, 73c, 72⅞@73c, 73@73⅛c, 73⅛c, 73⅛@73¼c, 73¼c, 73⅛@73¼c and 73¼c.

May sales: 75½@75⅝c, 75⅝@75⅞c, 75¾c, 75⅞c, 75⅞c, 75⅞c, 76c, 76@76⅛c, 76⅛c, 76c, 76⅛@76¼c, 76¼c and 76⅝c.

Corn started the boom in wheat. The country sold little and the outside buying was heavier than usual. There was an excellent cash demand and the receipts at primary points were only 257,355 bu and the shipments 171,453 bu. The clearances were only 1200 bu, but the buying for shipment to Southwestern points was heavy all day. Trading was on an enlarged scale.

A good cash demand helped prices and the receipts at St. Louis were only 49,615 bu.

The market opened with a gain of ½c, Dec. selling at 59⅞c and May at 61⅞c. The demand was very good and the offerings were light. Dec. went up to 60@60⅛c and dropped back to 60c. May rose to 62⅛@62¼c.

The buying pressure increased and Dec. went up to 60⅝c at the close, a gain of ⅞c. May advanced to 62⅝c, which was asked at the close, a gain of ⅞c.

Dec. corn sold today at 59⅞c, 59⅞@60c, 60c, 60@60⅛c, 60c, 59⅞c, 60c, 60⅛c, 60⅛c, 60⅛c, 60⅛@60⅜c, 60⅜c, 60⅛c, 60⅜@60½c, 60⅛c, 60⅜@60½c, 60⅝c, 60⅜@60⅝c, 60⅝c, 60½@60⅝c, 60⅝c, 60⅝c, 60⅛@60⅝c, 60⅝c, 60½c, 60½@60⅝c and 60⅝c.

May sales: 61⅞c, 62c, 62@62⅛c, 62⅛@62¼c, 62⅛c, 62⅛@62¼c, 62⅛@62¼c, 62c, 62⅛c, 62¼c, 62¼@62⅜c, 62⅜c, 62¼@62⅜c, 62⅜c, 62⅜c, 62⅜c, 62⅜c, 62½@62⅝c, 62⅝c, 62½@62⅝c and 62⅝c.

The receipts of oats at St. Louis were 45,600 bu and 484,354 bu at the primary points. The shipments were 422,257 bu.

The strength in wheat and corn help oats. Trading here was light, but it was very heavy in Chicago. The cash demand was good. May opened ⅛c up, at 41c, sold at 41⅛c, 41¼c and 41⅜c, closing with a gain of ⅜@½c, at 41¼@41⅜c bid.

St. Louis Curb Grain Market.

Dec. wheat, 73⅛c to 73⅝@73½c; puts, 72⅝@73c to 72⅜@72⅞c; calls, 74@74⅛c.

Dec. corn, 60⅝c; puts, 60⅛c; calls, 61⅛@61½c.

Lead and Spelter.

Receipts—Lead, 5930 pigs; shipments, 3200 pigs; spelter and zinc, slabs, 19,215; shipments, 11,235. Lead steady and firm, with soft Missouri selling at $4.25@4.27½; chemical hard at $4.27½, and delivered at $4.32½. Spelter quoted at $4.10@4.12½.

Rye and Barley.

Receipts of rye at St. Louis were 1500 bu; shipments, none; market steady and No. 2 57c; No. 3, 56½c.

Barley—Receipts, 1800 bu; shipments, 1285 bu; market quiet; choice worth 55@62c.

General Market Notes.

Total clearances today: Wheat, 80,000 bu; flour, 11,000 bu; corn, 1200 bu; wheat and flour, 134,000 bu.

From Chicago: Broomhall makes world's shipments of flour and wheat 11,672,000 bu for the week, of which the United Kingdom took 4,584,000 bu, or 500,000 bu more than the previous week. Lake freights are stiffening and agents are indifferent about chartering at old rates on grain, as ore and coal freights pay better. Duluth has increased its stock of flaxseed 898,000 bu within a week and now has 2,149,000 bu. Last year the stocks were 1,513,000 bu. The railroads have instructed their agents not to contract for any more flax to be shipped to Minneapolis or Duluth, as there is a blockade and they desire to remove it before making any new contracts. W. H. Bartlett, who has been in the West, said: "I don't believe corn can sell 2c lower under any circumstances and do believe it can very easily sell much higher. There are inquiries here. Local stocks at consumptive points are exhausted and it looks now as if the Chicago stock would be drawn upon from all directions. I believe corn should be bought on all soft spots."

The first line of quotations in each class is calculated to represent the full range from common to extra. Dealers, however, often classify superlative bunches (all tops) for buyers, which sometimes sell considerably above the highest quotations. The second line of quotations signifies the bulk of sales and generally represents the various classes as they are sold on the commission market, more or less mixed.

STOCKYARDS NOTES.

Turner McBain of Boone County, Mo., the well-known feeder of good cattle, had on the market 21 head of yearling steers averaging 1094 pounds that realized the top price of the day, $6.25. They were composed of Polled Angus and shorthorn grade steers. Swift & Co. secured them.

Last week the receipts in the quarantine division amounted to 506 cars, of which the State of Texas contributed 74 cars, the Indian Territory 409, Mississippi 2, Arkansas 17, Tennessee 4, as against 382 cars received during the same week before, while during the same week last year there were 340 loads received.

In the quarantine division at Chicago so far this year there were received 5501 cars of cattle, as against 5752 cars received during the corresponding period of 1900. A decrease of 251 loads.

Up to and including last Saturday cattle receipts in quarantine from the first of the year show a total of 15,026 cars. As compared with the receipts during the corresponding period of 1900 they show a gain of 1293 cars.

British horses are being inspected at Fort Worth, Tex. Eight hundred head were accepted one day last week and several hundred more are in the pens at the stockyards awaiting examination.

The combined quarantine receipts at St. Louis, Kansas City and Chicago last week amounted to 834 cars, of which St. Louis received 60 per cent, Kansas City 24 per cent and Chicago 16 per cent.

MARKETS BY TELEGRAPH.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—Dec. wheat opened a shade higher at 71⅝c on higher cables, a fair commission house demand and very little offered in the pit. Trade was not large, but in sympathy with the firm tone of corn. Dec. rose in the face of large receipts and sold early at 71¾c. Toward the end of the first hour the market broadened somewhat and the outside demand improved. There was some changing of Dec. for May and these two deliveries stood about 3c apart. Local receipts were 212 cars, 3 of contract grade; Minneapolis and Duluth reported 919 cars, making a total for the three points of 1131 cars, against 1109 last.

Strength in the corn pit, reports of Russian and Argentine shortages and the removal of the Mexican import duty on wheat influenced a steady advance in wheat, Dec. closing strong, 1@1⅛c higher at 72⅜c.

Corn continued in its upward trend of the past few days, buoyed up by improved cables, and Dec. opened ⅛@¼c higher at 58⅞@59c. At the outset there was as much of this cereal offered as was wanted, commission houses buying and the crowd selling. Receipts continued light and prices west were still up. It was not long before the crowd in the pit found that corn was scarce and shorts had to buy back the lines they sold early. Added to this was a good outside demand, which brought Dec. up to 59⅝c. Receipts were 148 cars.

Dec. corn eased off at one time to 58¾@58⅞c, but renewed covering brought a firm close, ⅜c higher at 59½c.

There was little doing in oats, Dec. opening unchanged at 37⅛c. Trade was narrow, but on the corn bulge Dec. sold up to 37¼@37⅝c. Receipts were 262 cars.

Provisions opened heavy on a lower hog market, but recovered quickly on a fair local demand. Offerings early were small and though business was largely professional, Jan. pork, which opened 15c lower at $14.62½@14.65, sold back to $14.75; Jan. lard 2½c down at $8.47½ and reacted to $8.52½, and Jan. ribs 2½@5c down at $7.60, and advanced to $7.62½@7.65.

IN LEAGUE WITH INSURGENTS

Steamship Agent at Panama Found With Incriminating Letters, Put in Underground Cell.

PANAMA, Nov. 5.—Gen. Alban, governor of Panama, has arrested Cesar Fernandez del Rio, a native of Cuba and acting agent for the Pacific Mail Steamship Co.

Gen. Alban had learned, it is said, that compromising letters had been sent from points in Central America addressed to Von Lindeman, cashier of the company. He went to the office of the company and made a demand for the letters.

It was found that they had not been delivered, but in a drawer in Del Rio's desk, according to the government, two envelopes were discovered and when opened were found to contain letters, one to Del Rio from a noted insurgent, mentioning former correspondence, and another for Domingo Diaz, chief of the insurgents in the department of Panama.

Del Rio was arrested by Gen. Alban personally and placed with common criminals in an underground cell. He applied, through United States Consul Gudger, for release under guard until the steamship company could get a man here.

Gen. Alban said he would consent if a deposit of $4000 in cash was made, the sum to be forfeited if Del Rio communicated with the liberals. Del Rio was later allowed to go to his office with a policeman. The deposit, however, was not made.

Gen. Alban has invited Consul Gudger to be present at the company's office after the arrival of the next steamer to see other mail from the same addresses opened.

Gen. Alban says he has assurance that important matter is on the way. He gave the consul a copy of all proceedings in the case, including the testimony.

MINISTER TO BE VINDICATED.

Kansas Attorney-General Will Prosecute Those Who "Egged" His Home.

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 5.—If evidence can be obtained, Attorney-General A. A. Godard proposes to see that every member of the mob at Alma, which egged the home of the Rev. J. B. Gibson because he had been prominent in enforcing the prohibition law, is prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law. He also will insist on the city marshal of Alma being ousted from office for aiding and abetting the mob. In a letter to F. A. Seamon, county attorney of Waubunsee County, Mr. Godard has requested that official to commence the prosecutions at once and push them as rapidly as possible.

ADOLPHUS BUSCH HOME.

Rode to His Doorstep in His Private Car.

The private car, Adolphus, which brought Mr. Busch to St. Louis and approached to the door of his residence over switches that had been laid specially for the purpose, was presented to him in New York by the officers and directors of the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association.

"It was a great delight," said Mr. Bush, "when I found that I would not have to alight before I got to my home. I stepped almost, you might say, from the platform onto the porch. I can't tell how much I enjoyed that trip from New York, but now, after a good vacation, I am ready for work and business again."

In the party to bid Mr. Busch and his family welcome were August A. Busch, Edward A. Faust, Philip Stock, Henry Nicolaus, Dr. Robert Luedeking, Charles Ehlermann, Frederick Widtmann, Tony Faust, Otto Stifel and William D. Orthwein.

As the train entered the yards of the brewery a salute of 21 guns was fired. The employes gathered and gave a great cheer as Mr. Busch stepped of the platform and bowed his greeting.

After breakfast, and before going to his office, he spent three hours inspecting the brewery. He went through every department, shaking hands with the men. Brewery workers showed Mr. Busch many innovations that had taken place while he was away.

SUFFRAGIST COMMITTEE MEETS

It Is Preparing to Celebrate Mrs. Stanton's Birthday.

The executive committee of the Regular Equal Suffrage Association of Missouri met at the Lindell Tuesday to arrange to celebrate the eighty-sixth birthday of Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton. Miss Phebe Cousins, who has regained her health, will be the guest of honor at the celebration and make the principal address.

Final arrangements will be made Thursday afternoon, when Mrs. Charles Rausch of 2007 California avenue will entertain the committee at luncheon.

LUKEWARM IN ANARCHISM.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Antonio Livenro, an Italian silk weaver, who says that he lives on West Sixty-sixth street, will be arraigned in the police court this morning, charged with murdering Frank Pannizzone of Summit, N. J., on the night of March 17.

Pannizzone kept a boarding hous in Summit, and Livenro was one of his boarders. They quarreled because Livenro accused Pannizzone of being lukewarm in his anarchist faith. They came to blows, and Pannizzone was struck over the head with a bottle and stabbed twice in the left breast. Livenro fled to this city and took the name of Vilo.

DISCLOSED PLOT TO SLAY TROOPS

Filipino Conspiracy Told by Wife of a Conspirator.

GARRISON TO BE SURPRISED

LEYTE ISLANDERS COMPLAIN THAT THEY ARE STARVING.

Gen. Smith Told Them They Must Starve Unless They Surrendered Their Arms and Gave Infomation.

MANILA, Nov. 5.—A plot to massacre the American garrison at Moncada, province of Tarlac, Island of Luzon, has been revealed by the wife of one of the conspirators.

Several of the town officials are implicated in the murderous scheme. The woman who revealed the plot hid a detective beneath a house in which the leaders of the conspiracy were meeting. Arrests followed and many incriminating papers were seized.

The plan was to set fire to a house close to the barracks after dark, and when the soldiers came out to assist in extinguishing the flames 150 conspirators, armed with bolos, were to rush on the guard, capture their arms and proceed to massacre the garrison.

Advices from Tacoloban, Island of Leyte, report that the presidentes of various towns in the island have waited upon Brigadier-General Smith and complained to him that the people are unable to procure food because of the blockade that is maintained along the Strait of San Juanico. Gen. Smith replied that the strictest kind of a blockade will be continued until the people of Leyte brought in their guns and gave the authorities full information concerning the insurgents who infest the country. All the arguments of the officials of the towns were unavailing.

Gen. Smith has ordered the deportation of the wife of Gen. Lukban, leader of the Samar revolutionists. Four native police officers were killed and their horses captured yesterday at Baybay, Island of Leyte.

Lieut. Julien E. Caujot with a detachment of scouts met a body of insurgents southeast of Catbalogan, Samar Island, and in the fight which followed 25 rebels were killed. One hundred and seventy-five houses were burned and 5000 pounds of rice and 2000 of palay were captured.

Commissioner Wright today took the oath of office as vice-governor. He will be acting governor during the convalescence of Gov. Taft, who will probably be unable to resume his duties for some weeks to come.

The United States Philippine commission today passed the treason laws, with slight alterations. Several Filipinos spoke against them.

WILL ASK FOR AUTONOMY.

Philippine Federalists Want a Legislature and Self Government.

MANILA, Nov. 5.—The Federalists are holding a convention to arrange for a petition to Congress asking that body to grant autonomy to the Philippines, with a governor appointed by the President of the United States, with veto power over the two houses, the senate to consist of 30 members, 14 of them to be named by the governor, and 16 to be elected.

TRAINMEN INJURED.

Collison Between Freight and Mail Near Chicago.

CHICAGO, Nov. 5.—A head-on collision between a freight train and the Burlington fast mail occurred at Riverside today. William Kelly, conductor, and Frank Rees and James Watson of the mail train, and Engineer Thomas Gregory and Fireman John Douglas of the freight, were severely but not fatally injured. The collision was due to a fog, which obscured the signals.

SHE WANTS DIVORCE.

Mrs. Bradford Says Husband Threw Bucket of Water on Her.

Mrs. Charles Bradford of East St. Louis seeks a divorce, alleging that her husband threw a bucket of water on her. She filed her suit Tuesday.

She charges that on Oct. 1 her husband beat her until she was sick, and when she sat down he went by her with a bucket of water, which he was carrying to his horse, and threw it on her.

She asks that the house at 1511 Missouri avenue, where she lives, and the contents, be awarded to her.

WEDDED BLISS WAS MARRED

Mrs. Boogert at Charleston, Ill., Says Her Husband Drank Three Gallons of Wine a Day.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHARLESTON, Ill., Nov. 5.—Mrs. Emma Boogart, handsome and of attractive form, maried once before, is suing her second husband, Lane Boogart, for separate maintenance and $5000 alimony. Boogart is a well-to-do farmer of Humboldt township and is 20 years older than his wife.

Mrs. Boogart stated on the witness stand that her husband refused to give her sufficient money to pay household expenses, and though she did all the work on the farm, he was not satisfied and used abusive and vulgar language toward her. She averred that her husband drank from one-half gallon to three gallons of wine each day and therefore was drunk all the time. Mrs. Boogart also stated that her husband also caressed other women, and when she asked him for money to buy her daughter by her first husband a new dress, Boogart suggested that she use his old pants in order to cut down expenses.

The defense of Mr. Boogart is that his wife would leave his home at different times of night to meet other men. That on one occasion she attempted to chloroform him so that she could leave the house without him missing her, and that on another occasion when he was saying the blessing at dinner she filled his plate with chicken bones and did divers other things of a disgraceful nature.

Men and women of good character are on either side to give evidence to sustain the contentions of the plaintiff and defendant.

WATER CONTRACT VOID.

Sedalia City Council Has Taken a Radical Step.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SEDALIA, Mo., Nov. 5.—The Sedalia city council last night unanimously adopted a resolution setting forth the failure of the Sedalia Water and Light Co. to supply the city with water and instructing the clerk to notify the officers of the corporation that under the terms of the original grant and more recent contracts it had forfeited all rights, privileges and franchises and now had no contract with the city.

L. P. Andrews, manager of the water company, declines to state what steps he contemplates taking.

MADE BISHOP OF MINNESOTA.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 5.—At 11 o'clock today Rt. Rev. Samuel C. Edsall, formerly of Chicago, but for the past three years missionary bishop of North Dakota, was formally installed as head of the Protestant Episcopal bishopric of Minnesota, at Christ Church, in this city. Bishop Jas. D. Morrison of Duluth acted as institutor, receiving the new bishop within the rails, seating him in the bishop's chair and presenting to him the books of the diocese

VISITOR WAS SHOT WHILE SEEING CITY

JAMES KARNES OF DUNKLIN COUNTY WAS VICTIM.

HE WAS WOUNDED IN JAW

One Man Arrested Says Wound Was Accidental But Karnes Does Not Remember Episode.

James Karnes, a saloonkeeper of Senath, Dunklin County, Missouri, who has a bullet wound in his left jaw, is held as a prisoner at the City Hospital, pending an investigation into the manner in which he received his injury.

Karnes was found in company with a man who gave his name as Roberts by Policeman Rosser about 11 o'clock Monday night at Wash street and Leffingwell avenue.

He was intoxicated. His companion told the policeman that he would take care of him, but Rosser arrested both of them.

Later Joseph L. Mount, a saloonkeeper at Jefferson and Washington avenues, was arrested.

At the station "Roberts" said his name was Robert Robinson of 2801 Olive street. Both were released on bond.

Mount said Karnes entered his saloon with a woman and ordered drinks, but that he refused to serve them and called a carriage.

Robinson, Mount says, accused him of calling a patrol wagon and, in the quarrel that followed, Mount avers, he attempted to strike Robinson with his revolver.

The weapon was discharged accidentally, according to his statement, the bullet lodging in Karnes' face.

In Karnes' pockets were found checks for amounts aggregating over $1600, a watch and chain, two rings and $11.67 in money. Karnes says he had $100 Monday night.

The last recollection he has of his movements Monday evening, he says, was that he was leaving the Olive saloon, 2801 Olive street, in company with a man of the name of Robinson, who was formerly its proprietor.

Karnes is married. He telegraphed to his wife Tuesday morning to come to St. Louis. He came here to purchase saloon supplies.

SCHOONERS RACE 3600 MILES.

Two Fast Sailing Vessels Off for Cape Verde on a Wager.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 5.—A 3600-mile ocean race has just been started from Providence to the Cape Verde Islands between the schooner Unique, formerly a Grand Banks fisherman, and the brigantine D. A. Small. Each carried 35 passengers and a cargo of general merchandise. Both are fast sailers, and as they belonged to river packet lines and considerable cash has been wagered on the result, a great race is expected. The Unique has made the trip out in 23 days and the Small has covered the distance in a few hours under that time.

A STRANGE LITTLE WOMAN.

Janie Loder, a Dwarf, Aged 60, Plays Much of Her Time With Dolls.

CENTERVILLE, Ind., Nov. 5.—Miss Janie Loder of Milton, a dwarf, attracts a good deal of attention wherever she is seen. She is 60 years old and measures but 42 inches in hight and weighs but 65 pounds. She gives much of her time to dolls, and her large family includes almost every kind of doll imaginable. When her parents died, many years ago, they left a snug fortune in the hands of a guardian for her care. Museum managers have often made tempting offers and she has received several proposals of marriage from dwarfs. She lived in Indianapolis for a few years.

FATHER DOHERTY ON FAITH.

Paulist Father Declares It to be Necessary to Religion.

Rev. Francis B. Doherty, a Paulist priest, lectured Monday night to non-Catholics on "The Necessity of Faith."

It was one of a series of lectures that is being given this week for the benefit of the general public.

Preceding it, Rev. Bertram L. Conway opened the query box and answered the questions that had been deposited there during the day.

Father Conway will speak Tuesday night on the Bible and Father Doherty will answer questions.

USING AMERICAN MACHINERY.

British Shoe Manufacturers Are 20 Years Behind Hand.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Visitors to the shoe and leather fair at London are impressed by the fact that the British boot and shoe trade is largely dependent upon American machinery. One British exhibitor said: "Americans are 20 years ahead of us in machinery. Fortunately, we in England can buy the same machinery as the Americans are using, so there is still hope for our trade."

Father Hoeynck is Dead.

The Rev. Engelbert Hoeynck, who for 25 years was rector of St. Liborius' Parish, in St. Louis, died at Bolve, in the diocese of Padelborn, Westphalia, Germany, his birthplace. A cablegram received by friends here Monday night announced the end. Father Hoeynck left this city in 1894 for a visit to his old home in the hope of recovering his health.

Services will be held in St. Louis for the repose of his soul. The time and place [illegible]

JEALOUSY BECKONS THE FIGURE OF DEATH

PHILLIP ANSENMACHER BROODED OVER HIS LOVE.

HIS BULLET MISSED HIM.

He Fired the Shot in the Home of His Fiancee and Because She Had Danced With Another.

Phillip Ansenmacher, 27 years, a machinist, crazed from jealousy, attempted to end his life in the home of his sweetheart, Miss Annie Cassing, 2709 North Twelfth street, Monday night.

His aim was bad, however, and further than frightening the mother of the girl, Mrs. Sophia Cassing, almost into hysterics, no damage was done, for the bullet went wide of its mark and lodged in the wall instead of the young man's head.

The mother caused Ansenmacher's arrest and he is being held in the City Hospital for observation.

Mrs. Cassing keeps a boarding house, where Phillip has been living for four months past. He has been, during his stay with the family, very devoted to Miss Annie, 18 years old. He was zealous and saving and they were to be married when he had accumulated $1000.

His savings were approaching the desired amount, for when he was searched at the Fifth District Police Station $700 in deposit checks and $48.75 in cash were taken from him.

He was insanely jealous of his fiancee, however, and quarreled with her, it is said, if she even smiled pleasantly at any other man.

Last Saturday night there was a surprise party at the Cassing home and Phillip was present. There were several young men at the function who wished to dance with Annie, but she refused them all and danced with her girl friends, not wishing to anger her wooer.

Dances With Her Brother-in-Law.

Once she did dance with Peter Oruedt, the husband of her elder sister, but even this the jealous lover resented. After the gathering he became morbid, and Monday night about 8 o'clock he went to Mrs. Cassing, who, with her daughter, was the only one at home, and asked for the key to the cellar, where his trunk was stored.

Mrs. Cassing handed over the key, but told her daughter that she had better run out, as she did not like Phillips' manner.

"He means mischief," was Mrs. Cassing's comment.

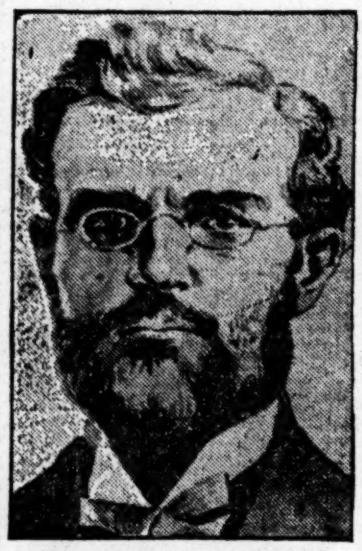
Annie threw a shawl over her head and started for a neighbor's home.

Phillip returned from the cellar and asked Mrs. Cassing where Annie had gone. When told that she had left the house he sat on the bed for a moment, brooding, and then drew from his pocket the revolver, which he had just taken from the trunk, and fired at himself. Mrs. Cassing ran screaming to the street and attracted the attention of Policeman Derby, who went to the house and found Ansenmacher lying on the bed unharmed, but with the revolver lying on the floor where he had dropped it. Miss Annie has announced that Phillip must seek another bride, as she fears that he had intended killing her when he went for the pistol.

Fire Damages A Stable.—Fire damaged the frame stable at the rear of 1513 North Sarah street to the extent of $75 at 11:15 o'clock Monday night. The stable was occupied by J. A. Rose.

JACOB KLEIN WAS ELECTED

Former Circuit Judge Was Chosen President of the St. Louis Bar Association Monday Night.



FORMER JUDGE JACOB KLEIN.
He was elected president of the St. Louis Bar Association Monday night.

Former Judge Jacob Klein was elected president of the St. Louis Bar Association at the annual election Monday night at the Mercantile Club.

He received 85 votes against 30 for H. L. Christie.

At the meeting the retiring president, James Hogeman, addressed the members on the importance of the universal congress of lawyers and jurists, which will be held during the World's Fair.

A committee, composed of the following members of the association, was appointed to look after the congress:

Judges A. M. Thayer, E. B. Adams and Selden P. Spencer, former Judge Wilbur F. Boyle, Col. A. G. Cochran, F. N. Judson, R. F. Walker, John F. Lee and H. L. Christie.

The following attorneys were admitted: Chilton Atkinson, Nathan Davis, J. A. Wright and J. E. Dorne.

Catarrh

The cause exists in the blood, in what causes inflammation of the mucous membrane.

It is therefore impossible to cure the disease by local applications.

It is positively dangerous to neglect it, because it always affects the stomach and deranges the general health, and is likely to develop into consumption.

Many have been radically and permanently cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. It cleanses the blood and has a peculiar alterative and tonic effect. R. Long, California Junction, Iowa, writes: "I had catarrh three years, lost my appetite and could not sleep. My head pained me and I felt bad all over. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla and now have a good appetite, sleep well, and have no symptoms of catarrh."

MORMON'S WIVES AT LAW

Youngest Spouse of President Snow Asked to Make an Accounting of Estate.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SALT LAKE, Nov. 5.—Minnie Jensen Snow, youngest wife of the late President Snow of the Mormon Church, and the one with whom he lived for years prior to his death, may be required to render an accounting to other heirs. So far, it is said, the heirs have been unable to discover much property which they expected to find, and this has served to intensify the feeling that has always existed between Minnie Jensen Snow and the earlier families of the late president.

One matter in particular which the children of the other wives would like to have explained is the transfer of 200 shares of Sugar stock by President Snow to Minnie Jensen Snow a short time before his death. The stock is valued at $3000, and Mrs. Snow says she took it because Snow insisted upon transferring it to her.

It is probable that the heirs will ask for an order of court which will require the president's banker to open his books for inspection, so that the beneficiaries may satisfy their curiosity regarding the disposition which President Snow made of moneys which it is understood he had on deposit with Banker Schettler at one time.

Along the same lines it is said that the search among President Snow's papers has failed to bring to light any stock owned by him, with the exception of 100 shares of Sugar stock, and five shares of Zion's Savings Bank and Trust Company stock.

URGES A DOWNTOWN CHURCH.

The Rev Stelzle Says Hundreds of More People Would Observe Sabbath.

More attention should be paid by the churches to work in the downtown district, in the opinion of Rev. Charles Stelzle, pastor of the Markham Memorial Presbyterian Church.

Rev. Mr. Stelzle read a paper before the Presbyterian clergymen of the city Monday, in which he urged that the evangelization of the "East End" be undertaken by the Presbyterian churches.

"A strong church in the heart of the downtown district," said Mr. Stelzle, "would reach the masses of the people as no mission chapel could hope to do. The workingmen are interested in Christianity, but social distinctions keep them away from the churches.

"The churches have forsaken the East End and left it in the devil's hands," Mr. Stelzle declared. "The East End is inhabited by lost spirits, and the West End by departed spirits."

In the discussion following the reading of the paper, Mr. Stelzle's ideas were heartily indorsed by Rev. F. W. Sneed, Rev. S. C. Palmer, Rev. E. H. Barclay and others present.
